SOME THOUGHTS

Another issue and I'm still spinning my wheels, not exactly sure where I'm going or will be next. Found a great house in Pennsylvania, out in the fields with about 8 acres of land. But then that got ripped back out from under our feet, putting us back to square one. I want to get a vehicle and hit the road again - go cross country and visit all the places again that I didn't get spend enough time. I actually just realized that it's summer when a friend was talking about her summer travel plans. Why hadn't I realized it's summer? Could it be because the weather has been such a tease and it keeps going back and forth, or just because I thought I'd be far from NYC and settled into a new house by the time summer was here. I'm recently continually disoriented and getting tired of hearing my own story about moving, leaving, and settling in. It's still the plan, but it's all up in the air too. The address is changing to the Pennsylvania, to start this long process of changing my address. My box will still be in NYC for a long time, so that the residuals of mail don't get tossed out by the fucking post office. So if you want to write me some nice letters, start sending them to Pennsylvania!

Sometimes I have a problem of spending too much time inside my head.

I think a lot, and then often times assume that people around me, especially people who are close friends, think about things in a similar way that I do. When I discover that this is not the case sometimes I'm at a loss and wonder how we can see things so differently. I guess sometimes it's disappointing to realize that your friends don't take the same things as seriously or as deeply to heart and sometimes it's a matter of figuring out how to explain how I feel.

THE MUSIC INDUSTRY & CHEMICAL DEPENDENCY

Since I've been back in New York I went on a binge of going out a lot - shows every night, hanging out at my friends bar, soaking up the energy and being social. I seem to be able to go in spurts like that where I go out a lot and then I get burned and can't do it anymore. Hence the running off to the woods for a few months. But there is always a burst of continual shows in the spring where that becomes life. A few of them revolved around bands that have broken out of the sphere of punk rock and gone for that industry thing. You know, trying to get signed and "make it". The attitude and ideas that go with that kind of thinking, more times than not, also revolve around heavy drug use. So I watch people that I used to know, and for that matter, people that I used to have a lot of respect for and take a lot of inspiration from, and now see them playing the industry game and all to often just getting really fucked up into oblivion. At least with the young punk rockers, who of course these industry people look down on, are excited and probably having a bit of fun. Where as the other crew are usually older and depressed - looking at the bands and music as the only thing they've got and are therefore desperate to make it work. I prefer the younger punk kids just because they're still inspired. I can't stand the oblivion of drugs and drink consuming people all the time and becoming a necessity and a dependency. But it happens all to often and is very prevalent and perhaps like with so many things, New York City just exemplifies all of the extremes. It's "the place to be" for all of that industry high-brow schmoozing and using bullshit, where everything people do becomes a matter of furthering their own personal agenda. I'm all for people as people - and friends as people - not as stepping stones for getting somewhere. I've had a lot of dilemmas with that whole issue based around my photography. Since I have been photographing bands and the scene, and essentially my life - I got wrapped up into a trap where other people who were not necessarily a part of the scene began to see the opportunity to go somewhere with the subject, and so in my eyes it was used and abused, and it made me angry. I rejected the game and refused to kiss the right asses to get my photos printed in magazines and used by bands that could actually pay me money for what I do. But that is also a really frustrating position to be in - when you are in desperate need of money and can do the job as well, if not better than the next person - and especially because it's close to the heart. But that is exactly what got in my way - it was too close to my heart and so I felt for the subject and really cared about the bands and people and wasn't about to just "sell my story" as so many people in school told me that I could and should. Therefore many people I was around in the academic environment where we were taught how to succeed and to sell our art (or our selves) just couldn't understand why I was refusing and the more people asked me things like that, the more I questioned whether I was doing the right thing, even though I always knew that I was. It became an internal battle for me where I was continually being surrounded by the influence of - "go for it" - but continually not wanting to have anything to do with it. Art school teachers seem to encourage work based on the commercial thought have these momentary lapses where they want to "escape" and just lounge in front of the tube. Ugh!! It makes me want to grab the thing and throw it out the window and slap the people back to life. I'm not going to try and force my thoughts on others or try to tell people what to do - when I say - stop fucking watching TV - but every time I think about people keeping company with the TV I want to scream! Turn it off. Read a book. If you're really so tired that you can't get anything productive done - then maybe you should do what your body is telling you it wants to do anyway - and go to sleep.

I'm into this productivity thing. I like to keep busy and always be working on some kind of project. I don't like to be idle and I don't like to waste time. I realize that most people do not share that desire or drive to always be busy. Actually I'm appalled at how lazy most people are. I mean I have so many interests, desires and things that I want to do and get done and work on that when I talk to friends who can honestly say that they have no hobbies and no real interests - I flat out just can't relate or understand how that could be possible. As far as I'm concerned there are never enough hours in the day to read, write and create, or just to appreciate the surroundings of my environment. I always feel that I don't take full advantage of my opportunities. And yet so many people just sit around, bitch and moan and don't have any desire or passion for anything. They work some job, because they have to, but they don't enjoy it. Then they get so tired and miserable from working their unfulfilling job that when they're not working they don't have the energy or interest to do anything. So they watch TV or they get fucked up and let the cycle continue. Fuck that! Take back your fucking life and

Perhaps it's because I was too deeply involved with the show politics at ABC so that it all got to a point where it just wasn't any fun for me. So it was nice to go to a show that felt good to be at where people seemed to be appreciative of what was happening and just what they had going on! And I got to see Avail!!! who I missed last year due to a car accident on the way to the show and another time to a sell out crowd of Rancid-fies. And that is a refreshing realization. Kinda takes me back a few years when I first discovered ABC and the hardcore shows that Mike Bullshit was doing - hardcore bands trying to create a new scene, one that incorporates thoughtful ideas and a desire to create change - not machismo, not ego, not money - but just a bit of fun. Art school ended up teaching me that I didn't want to be a commercial photographer (with advertising in magazines) nor did I want to be a fine art photographer (with work in galleries). I got pushed to the point of really being pissed off when a certain well known and respected hardcore scene photographer was saying that he'd only been into hc for a few years and that he had his big break on this certain band and all of this industry talk and it pissed me off so much, that I was not longer pissed off. Take back your fucking life and turn it into something that you're proud of and happy about and most of all something that you enjoy. So that when you wake up in the morning you can be excited about the days potential! CONVENIENCE

I started thinking about how much our society relies on convenience. Convenience is all about being lazy and not challenging yourself to think. When your stoned or fucked up you want convenience because you are unable to work your mind any further, and so you must opt for simplicity - but simplicity in this case is usually a compromise of convenience. If you're lazy minded then it seems that you expect a privilege. I think of poor folks, even those believing in an idealism, who would actually rather have the money to pay for the convenience of the things they think they need. Perhaps the reason they're really so resentful of the upper class is because they're jealous and want that convenience which they do not have. It seems like a lot of people make due with less because they have no choice, and in our punk rock world, these conditions are made to be acceptable and desirable - like a big fuck off to the rest of society. I think it is totally possible, as well as a positive direction to make due with less, and make less more. But I think that a lot of people really want to have the things that they make due without, and given the first chance to have whatever it is they don't - they'll go for it. Maybe this is why some of those older punks that have "graduated" from the scene start talking shit on the young punks cause they've gotten bitter and are trying to go for that convenience - especially in the case of bands who want to sell a record for a few thousand dollars to a big label who will take care of everything for them. Even though if they did all of the record stuff on their own, by themselves - they would actually end up with more money (as if money were the issue). But laziness gets in the way and so people go for the convenience of having someone else do shit for them. This laziness and convenience pushes in so many other directions in our lives and it's yet another thing that is just sad. PUNK ROCK ENTHUSIASM

While I've been in NYC, I've had the chance to get out to some shows at the PWAC on Long Island. It's a massive warehouse that is part of the People With Aids Coalition of LI and they have some punk and hardcore shows. One of the things that is great about these shows is that loads of people come to them and it almost doesn't matter what bands are playing - people all turn up - I guess because it's in their area and it's something going on, or because it's all part of the scene or something. But the generally feeling at these shows ends up being one of a family. I'm sure that people who are directly involved in these shows or this scene may not think it's all peaches and roses, as nobody ever does when they see the in's and out's of things. But there didn't seem to be nearly the big ego and attitudes that perpetrate bigger shows in the city and there certainly wasn't that "industry" presence that almost all hardcore punk shows in Manhattan clubs have these days, and I really appreciate that. It feels like it's all happening for the kids. Loads of people set up their own record tables with the records their selling and it almost feels like a record convention as well as a social gathering with bands playing. Most important there is a feeling of having fun! And that is

ESCAPE FROM NEW YORK

My most recent jaunts out of the city have been to Richmond Virginia, a place that I'm sort of obsessed with right now. I've been wanting to visit some friends there, and had actually looked forward to getting to see the place at the end of our travels in the fall, (which didn't work out) - so I had it replanned to make Richmond a priority for a spring visit. We coordinated a visit with some Milwaukee friends, and I discovered Richmond to be everything I expected. Tim calls Richmond the beginning of the south and a slower pace of life, and that is so true. Driving around DC is soul sucking and deadening - I hate it. But once past the sprawl of DC, all of a sudden everything shifts. It's like the neighborhood shifts in NYC from one block to another where you realize that you've crossed a boundary. Suddenly all of the traffic is thinned out and slowed down. When you enter the city limits of Richmond you don't feel any building anxiety - you are just all of a sudden there. Considering the headache of driving into NYC, I really appreciated the ease with which we were suddenly in Richmond. There's no traffic there and the place actually seems to be relatively empty. It has a distinct look to it that it can surely call it's own - an old south feel with beautiful architecture - big old places with domes and round arches, stone, pillars and triple decker porches. I was in love with the look and feel of the place. It's old with history, a little run down in places (that still appeals to my photo aesthetic) but totally overgrown with lush plant life. There seem to be a load of bands there and plenty of places for them all to play regularly as well as dirt cheap rent, and plenty of vacancies. A temptation? For sure! We had such a good time that Joy & I went back the next weekend. I'm not that accustomed to totally spontaneous get-up-and-go trips, especially one's that involve driving 7 hours in the middle of the night. That weekend turned into a no sleep and lots of coffee oblivion which was great fun! It was nice to add to the initial weekend of fun a balance of normalcy. The first weekend, not only were there people from other places visiting but it was 105°, and most of the daytime was spent laying on a cold cement porch. So the second weekend enabled me to get out and explore a bit and take some photos (an inspiration I've long been in need of). We went on an additional road-trip to Norfolk to see some local Richmond bands - Wardance Orange (a new and excellent band who I promise you will be hearing a lot more about) along with Eucharist who are off on tour now. It's funny to be around bands that are preparing for the summer tours, maybe because I'm out of the loop of show booking and all that at ABC NO RIO - I've forgotten once again about summer and tours and it just makes me want to go go go!!! Speaking of tours it seems that Citizen Fish will be returning this fall and touring the east coast in early

But I think that a lot of people really want to have the things that they make due without, and given the first chance to have whatever it is they don't - they'll go for it. Maybe this is why some of those older punks that have "graduated" from the scene start talking shit on the young punks cause they've gotten bitter and are trying to go for that convenience - especially in the case of bands who want to sell a record for a few thousand dollars to a big label who will take care of everything for them. Even though if they did all of the record stuff on their own, by themselves - they would actually end up with more money (as if money were the issue). But laziness gets in the way and so people go for the convenience of having someone else do shit for them. This laziness and convenience pushes in so many other directions in our lives and it's yet another thing that is just sad.

PUNK ROCK ENTHUSIASM

While I've been in NYC, I've had the chance to get out to some shows at the PWAC on Long Island. It's a massive warehouse that is part of the People With Aids Coalition of LI and they have some punk and hardcore shows. One of the things that is great about these shows is that loads of people come to them and it almost doesn't matter what bands are playing - people all turn up - I guess because it's in their area and it's something going on, or because it's all part of the scene or something. But the generally feeling at these shows ends up being one of a family. I'm sure that people who are directly involved in these shows or this scene may not think it's all peaches and roses, as nobody ever does when they see the in's and out's of things. But there didn't seem to be nearly the big ego and attitudes that perpetrate bigger shows in the city and there certainly wasn't that "industry" presence that almost all hardcore/punk shows in Manhattan clubs have these days, and I really appreciate that. It feels like it's all happening for the kids. Loads of people set up their own record tables with the records their selling and it almost feels like a record convention as well as a social gathering with bands playing. Most important there is a feeling of having fun! And that is that I was starting to associate with a lot of "hardcore" bands. And that is a refreshing realization. Kinda takes me back a few years when I first discovered ABC and the hardcore shows that Mike Bulshit was doing - hardcore bands trying to create a new scene, one that incorporates thoughtful ideas and a desire to create change - not machismo, not ego, not money - but just a bit of fun. I know that this has been going on all along over the years but I think that I've also been focused so much on punk rock and specifically around ABC that I almost forgot or started to miss out on some of the bands and parts of the scene that are different. Because I wasn't very interested in the rise of emo-hardcore I think I turned my head in the other direction for a little bit too long. But now, I'm happy to say that I've had my eyes opened again and I've been able to discover a bunch of new and really good bands as well as get a bit of re-inspiration and that is just what I needed!!!

ESCAPE FROM NEW YORK

WHO ARE WE?

We are what we are, not what we think, but what we are. All people aspire but how many transcend inaction and action. If we could look clearly (objectively) at our day to day lives we could gauge what we are. What did the day entail? What did the "individual" do or think, or do with what they thought? There it is in one day's time, we can assess who we are; in the present moment, because that is where we are, not the past, nor the future, but the present. What did we think? What did we do? In one day's time how did we act or interact? That is what we are in the present. But we may also live in our aspirations, but the are not a tangible concrete structure, but a slender frame we build everyday. Thus we may live in aspiration. We may work towards our goals, each step of the way can be a product, the product is a continuous motion. Break away from the capitalist group. It is like a painting or a poem if the artist is determined to receive joy only from the finished form of her or his work then what becomes of all they went through from the beginning of their piece? Is that all lost? Look in terms of creation! Creation is a large word it is not only when a baby comes forth from the womb, when the seed germinates, but it is all that has come

STOP THE DEFORESTATION!

Do you find pleasure in destroying what isn't yours? Does it make you feel like a real man or woman? Why must you litter this earth with all your nonsense? Your luxury houses, your gas stations, convenience stores, etc..., do we really need more? Capitalism the driving force of all greed is rapidly killing us and all other living things on this planet. Does anyone think of the consequences of building these "necessities"? Where do all the animals go that you force out of their homes by destroying their habitat? What about the beauty of these woods, the sense of adventure they give, the serenity? All of these things are lost when you go ahead and build your senseless structures. Do you honestly find this concrete beautiful or is it the thought of the money it could create? I'm sure you probably have bit plans to plant a couple of trees on the plot of land you've demolished, right? Is that your pathetic way of justifying what you did? I'm sure the animals you dislocated will thank you for it. Oh shit, I forgot we are the "supreme beings" on this planet we have the "right" to kill anything as long as it betters mankind (man-unkind).

This land, this earth is owned by non one so why do we treat it as a possession? The land is mine, yours, theirs, everyones, and everything!

Creation is a large word it is not only when a baby comes forth from the womb, when the seed sprouts, but it is all that has come before to create a friend by being a creator, by planting a seed of thought or love or interest, by extending a hand. We still possess the power to create our own reality, by doing, by being what we are. If we are angry, defiant, scared, nervous, etc., by being what we are we allow others to also simply be. But when we hide what we are, we present a mirage, an image, a distortion to the other which clouds the context in which we see each other, how we feel about each other, what we think about each other (business speak, adult folk). We shelter our emotions these emotions display joy, fear, remorse, anger, sadness, love, affection, closeness, confusion the signs by which we read and come to understand one another....

These ideas, thoughts and observations are not intended to sit concreted inflexible and rigid but are an attempt to present my thoughts to the best of my abilities. To me a thought or thoughts are an open presentation neither proclaiming or disclaiming truth but an offering to be looked at. An opinion on the other hand seems to me to be inflexible and rigid, a narrow corridor on the wide path of thought. Enjoy!

JOHN

Part 1: One generation ago when my parents were my age or younger life was a lot different. At that time when they were done with school, which was generally high school and rarely college, they went to work at a job which could turn easily into a career. Blue collar jobs, which paid well enough to support a family and generally a big family at that, abounded. People could afford to start a family very young (by my standards anyway) and could do things that are well beyond my comprehension like buy a new car and a house. People stayed at these jobs and they led to stable well paying careers.

Now what happens when you get out of high school or college? You are faced with the prospect of working at a no-where dead end job that pays such a sorry wage that you might (and I stress might) be able to afford the basics such as a shared apartment, bills and food. And quite often even just dealing with the basics requires a bit of juggling. Very few of us will know the kind of stability or job security that the generation before us did.

Without the big juicy carrot of comfort and security dangling in front of our noses, leading us all down the same road we are presented with the concept of finding our own path. Also with the goal of the "American Dream" of the house, two cars, a spouse and a couple of kids out of the picture we are left with coming up with our own definition of success as well. With financial reward pretty much unobtainable no matter what we do we have the freedom to do what we want. We don't need to center our lives around our careers. We can get jobs that we like more or allow use more free time to pursue our other interests. We can be more true to ourselves and take the time to explore, to figure out what will really fulfill us, not what will merely make us comfortable or secure.

So in exchange for that security and comfort we have received a more wide open approach to life, a more individual approach with truer motivations and more passion.

But there are those who don't care at all bout "individual approaches" and don't value "truer motivations" or "passion" they just want things how they have always been. They want the things that were sure things for the generation before to be sure things for them as well. They want security, they want comfort.

In this time of limited resources in order for these privileged few to maintain what they think they deserve, their warped view of what is due to them countless others must have it taken away. The rich stay rich by more and more people becoming poor. But it's more than that. On the social ladder the people at the very bottom are kept there by the people directly above them as well as the people way at the top. And all these people, while struggling to maintain the "status quo", are getting more cut-throat. They care about fewer and fewer people, allowing them to be pushed down or pushed aside so they can stay afloat. As people's sphere of caring gets smaller and smaller ideas such as family and community become less important and fewer people are included in those groups.

The people who are pushed out of the sphere of caring become, somehow, dehumanized in these people's minds. They become not quite fully human anymore. Whatever happens to them, what they feel isn't important because they are viewed as below the line of compassion, somehow not worth it, not human, not real. This marginalization, the process of dehumanizing more and more people, is on going and growing more and more broad. There's less to go around yet people still want to live up to the same sort of standard. So it must be denied to larger and larger amounts of people as well. And so denying to these others seems justifiable in their minds they need to push them out of their consciences, below their level of compassion. (After all these years of work on the animal rights front, virtually everyone's level of compassion. That would free up a little more capital to sustain the status quo for someone else.

As the world becomes a more difficult place to live our circles of caring, our concept of community should be broadening not shrinking. This will become increasingly important for those of us who are being dehumanized, being pushed under to sustain the wealthy's bloated lifestyles. We will need to create broad safety nets within our communities to help each other because, and this I can guarantee you, the government will continue to turn it's back on the down and out, the poor will become it's lowest priority if a priority at all.

Part 2 The idea of community has been on my mind a lot lately as the little bit of it that I have is falling apart. Two very important people in my life are moving away, far away. As these people who for some reason I never thought would leave and who I never thought I would have to face life without actually do leave I find myself longing for more than a series of temporary relationships, more than temporary community. I'm sick of only knowing people for a couple years before something changes and we are drawn apart. It seems like I'm always treading the same "getting to know each other" ground and deeper relationships never have a chance to materialize. It has left me without a strong groundwork with which to base things on or fall back onto in times of crisis. I guess I'm looking for a base, physical and mental, to come back to. A familiar place, a comforting place. I'm looking for a home. I long for a family, a people, a homeland, a tribe, something stable that doesn't go away.

MUSIC NEWS:

Zero Hour are an incredible band who I thought had broken up a year or so ago when their 7" came out on Spiral Records. And maybe they did, but a new split LP by them was just released by Stinky Feet Records (4583 Pearl Ave #4 San Jose CA 95136-1811). They play intricate yet powerful music with dark imagery and a definite modern punk-tribal slant. The lyrics and vocals reek of emotion, frustration and honesty. This is rebel music done right.

Profane Existence (PO Box 8722/ Mpls. MN 55408) sure does have their business going well with very good prices and wicked speedy turnaround on orders. And now with their recent merger (is that too corporate of a word?) with Skuld Records from Germany you can get the very best of European punk at non-import prices. Now there's no reason not to check out Contropotere.

In local music news, Coleman have sadly broken up. They will be missed.

tad.

I don't wear a wristwatch. This used to bother my mother. "How can you not wear a watch?" she'd ask. "How do you ever get anywhere on time?"

I'm late a lot. I used to be late all the time. I'd miss movies, buses, opening bands. Sometimes it would bother me. But there would always be another movie, a later bus, a different band.

My boss doesn't mind my lateness. I work hard. I stay late.

When I was younger, my mother used to buy me wristwatches. Birthdays, holidays, graduations, always the same plastic Timex box with the same plastic watch inside. I'd give them away. Or lose them.

Sometimes I'd wear them. I'd still be late a lot. But I'd be a lot more quite right yet.

My uncle died a couple of weeks ago. He was more of a grandfather. When I was very little, he used to sit me on his lap and show me full-color medical illustrations of the human eye. The day he died, I cried three times. Then I got drunk. I cried two more times at the funeral. Now I am finished crying. I still think about him. I miss him. He was nearly ninety years old. I guess his time had come.

At the funeral, his son called his death "really frustrating." He says he has a lot of "unresolved issues." A lot of anger. Because his father made him grow up in the suburbs. Because he didn't like the way his father treated his mother sometimes. Because his father always had to have the last word.

My cousin sees a therapist. He tells his therapist about his unresolved issues. He tells his therapist things he wanted to tell his father. But he didn't have enough time.

My cousin is in his forties.

How much time is enough?

I don't wear a wristwatch.

I'm late a lot.

I always have time for the people I love.

THE WORLD AS SEEN FROM MY WINDOW (oh boy, is it that small?)

"Past the nuclear age the American century lasted barely a decade, things fall apart and things fade away past nostalgic hate, looking back on a new generation of waiters in hell, they watch heaven on television. It's yesterday in the western world."

—Vic Bondi "Western World" (Radio wave — Jones Very)

As I first started to write down this "column" (put between brackets because as of yet I don't know if it's going to printed under column format) I was intending to speak about the wave of bombings that struck France recently. I was feeling kinda sick and despaired by the whole human race and its dramatic inability to foresee that its, your, may, our, their, future looks definitely bleak to say the least.

I guess the first bomb struck me the most, a bomb which exploded in the subway. A crowded train in a crowded station. It was right in the middle of the peak hours. 7 people died, people were amputated, injured... Blood, fire, smoke, body parts everywhere.

I didn't want to discuss the use of terror as a political weapon. Besides, in that particular case, the situation is not clear enough to take sides in a definitive way. To state that the Fundamentalists are the cause of all that is so easy. So convenient for the French government too as it gives the opportunity to harass, arrest, evict, hunt and eventually kill more Arabs... Jean-Marie Le Pen, the leader of the French National Front, doesn't even have to say anything against foreigners, the government does it...

Then a couple of other thoughts came to my mind.

The thing that amazed me the most was to see that people actually a homeless lying down in the gutter? I've been talking about that with some friends far away from here (Cuba that is) and they were really shocked by the fact that people here act just as if everyone was a complete stranger even though we've been living next door for many years. They laughed a lot about that with some pity for us in their words... I didn't laugh as much as they did because it just makes me sad...

What about you? Do you need that to feel some empathy with the people living with you, sharing the same breath of polluted air? I don't want to make you feel guilty of not having these feelings because, I admit and I confess in shame, neither do I, well not all day long. Which is precisely the thing that makes me sad and despaired. But at least, I realized that, even though I don't know if that's a good thing to do.

Look at the people again, they felt some pity for the dead and now they are finishing their dinner watching the eight o'clock news on Propaganda TV. Tomorrow, at the office, they will talk about the event... And then it's gone. They slowly forget that the people they are commuting with are real people, not just things sitting next to them. Back in the norm, yeah fucking right.

They forgot once more to look around and see what's going on. Such bombings are definitely a good thing for many. It increases the control on the people. Now the police have the right to do every thing they want to, even more than they used to. Wow! What a treat for them. You know, there are risks to they have no other choice than being rude and harassing the youth, the homeless, you know how, don't you.

And hear people's applause, we can be proud of our police! What efficiency! A bombing is finally a good thing, it is the startling point the social cleansing of the town... First the riot squads were patrolling now you get controlled by the paratroopers and the French Marine troops stationed in the key points of the city...

Yes, I was intending to write all about this, which was a real punkey column to write: talk about State, Religious and Military control over our lives - all on the same page.

Then it struck me and killed me right on the spot. My girlfriend left me and it hurt me deep inside, real deep. See how you can turn a social diatribe into an emo and weepy thing.

Oh don't be afraid, I will not go on and on about how great I was feeling to be near her, how great it was to see her smile at me, how great it was to hear her breathing while she was sleeping at my side. I could do that but what's the point anyway. She will never read that and she will never come back anyway...

But don't be so sure in your belief of the fact that this development of my column is so disconnected with what I was writing before. It's not so off the point.

This whole thing make me realize that the worst of all bombs lies within ourselves. Deep inside, just at the same spot it hurts me right now. We all carry that bomb with us and we all have the possibility to hurt people with it. It's something we cannot control. Our mind, our feelings, are a bomb that's just waiting for the fuse to blow. And for you it might not be a bomb, it might be just the way you are, the way you act, the things you say or don't say. It won't necessarily hurt you to blow other people's feelings with it. You'll be left intact out of the process but you might have done a lot of damage.

to face life without actually leaving myself longing for more than a series of temporary relationships, more than temporary community. I'm sick of only knowing people for a couple years before something changes and we are drawn apart. It seems like I'm always treading the same "getting to know each other" ground and deeper relationships never have a chance to materialize. It has left me without a strong groundwork with which to base things on or fall back onto in times of crisis. I guess I'm looking for a base, physical and mental, to come back to. A familiar place, a comforting place. I'm looking for a home. I long for a family, a people, a homeland, a tribe, something stable that doesn't go away.

MUSIC NEWS:

Zero Hour are an incredible band who I thought had broken up a year or so ago when their 7" came out on Spiral Records. And maybe they did, but a new split LP by them was just released by Stinky Feet Records (4583 Pearl Ave #4/ San Jose CA 95136-1811). They play intricate yet powerful music with dark imagery and a definite modern punk-tribal slant. The lyrics and vocals reek of emotion, frustration and honesty. This is rebel music done right.

Profane Existence (PO Box 8722/ Mpls. MN 55408) sure does have their business going well with very good prices and wicked speedy turnaround on orders. And now with their recent merger (is that too corporate of a word?) with Skuld Records from Germany you can get the very best of European punk at non-import prices. Now there's no reason not to check out Contropotere.

In local music news, Coleman have sadly broken up. They will be missed.

tad.

I don't wear a wristwatch. This used to bother my mother. "How can you not wear a watch?" she'd ask. "How do you ever get anywhere on time?"

I'm late a lot. I used to be late all the time. I'd miss movies, buses, opening bands. Sometimes it would bother me. But there would always be another movie, a later bus, a different band.

My boss doesn't mind my lateness. I work hard. I stay late.

When I was younger, my mother used to buy me wristwatches. Birthdays, holidays, graduations, always the same plastic Timex box with the same plastic watch inside. I'd give them away. Or lose them.

Sometimes I'd wear them. I'd still be late a lot. But I'd be a lot more upset, because I would stare at my watch, watching myself be later and later.

I never wore a watch for long.

I have two friends. They're not getting along. One of them did something to upset the other. Something stupid. Like borrow a record without asking. Or not invite the other to a dinner party. The upset friend hasn't told the other one that she's upset yet. She's waiting for the right time. In the meantime, she's a little less friendly. She doesn't laugh quite as hard at his jokes. She forgets to ask how his day was.

He notices these things. He said to me the other day, "I think she's mad at me." He's going to ask her about it. But the time hasn't seemed

My cousin is in his forties.

How much time is enough?

I don't wear a wristwatch.

I'm late a lot.

I always have time for the people I love.

THE WORLD AS SEEN FROM MY WINDOW (oh boy, is it that small?)

"Past the nuclear age the American century lasted barely a decade, things fall apart and things fade away past nostalgic hate, looking back on a new generation of waiters in hell, they watch heaven on television. It's yesterday in the western world."

—Vic Bondi "Western World" (Radio wave — Jones Very)

As I first started to write down this "column" (put between brackets because as of yet I don't know if it's going to be printed under column format) I was intending to speak about the wave of bombings that struck France recently. I was feeling kinda sick and despaired by the whole human race and its dramatic inability to foresee that its, your, may, our their, future looks definitely bleak to say the least.

I guess the first bomb struck me the most, a bomb which exploded in the subway. A crowded train in a crowded station. It was right in the middle of the peak hours. 7 people died, people were amputated, injured... Blood, fire, smoke, body parts everywhere.

I didn't want to discuss the use of terror as a political weapon. Besides, in that particular case, the situation is not clear enough to take sides in a definitive way. To state that the Fundamentalists are the cause of all that is so easy. So convenient for the French government too as it gives the opportunity to harass, arrest, evict, hunt and eventually kill more Arabs... Jean-Marie Le Pen, the leader of the French National Front, doesn't even have to say anything against foreigners, the government does it...

Then a couple of other thoughts came to my mind.

The thing that amazed me the most was to see that people actually need that kind of event to feel some solidarity with their fellows.

See what I mean?

They took the train every day with the same people, at the same hour and now they realize that the guy or the middle aged woman what was sitting next to them are gone. They either are in a coffin or in intensive care in a hospital ward. They just realize that these people were humans too, they had a family and a life, just like them. What a concept, right?

Do these breathe like me, do they eat like me, hey, I'm not supposed to know, they are strangers...

This is a thing I just can't understand. Why people need such an event to say hello, smile to each other, help each other? Some people helped some victims of the bombing but would the same persons help

Look at the people again, they feel some pity for the dead and now they are finishing their dinner watching the eight o'clock news on Propaganda TV. Tomorrow, at the office, they will talk about the event... And then it's gone. They slowly forget that the people they are commuting with are real people, not just things sitting next to them. Back in the norm, yeah fucking right.

They forgot once more to look around and see what's going on. Such bombings are definitely a good thing for many. It increases the control on the people. Now the police have the right to do every thing they want to, even more than they used to. Wow! What a treat for them. You know, there are risks to they have no other choice than being rude and harassing the youth, the homeless, you know how, don't you.

And hear people's applause, we can be proud of our police! What efficiency! A bombing is finally a good thing, it is the starting point the social cleansing of the town... First the riot squads were patrolling now you get controlled by the paratroopers and the French Marine troops stationed in the key points of the city...

Yes, I was intending to write all about this, which was a real punkey column to write: talk about State, Religious and Military control over our lives - all on the same page.

Then it struck me and killed me right on the spot. My girlfriend left me and it hurt me deep inside, real deep. See how you can turn a social diatribe into an emo and weepy thing.

Oh don't be afraid, I will not go on and on about how great I was feeling to be near her, how great it was to see her smile at me, how great it was to hear her breathing while she was sleeping at my side. I could do that but what's the point anyway. She will never read that and she will never come back anyway...

But don't be so sure in your belief of the fact that this development of my column is so disconnected with what I was writing before. It's not so off the point.

This whole thing make me realize that the worst of all bombs lies within ourselves. Deep inside, just at the same spot it hurts me right now. We all carry that bomb with us and we all have the possibility to hurt people with it. It's something we cannot control. Our mind, our feelings, are a bomb that's just waiting for the fuse to blow. And for you it might not be a bomb, it might be just the way you are, the way you act, the things you say or don't say. It won't necessarily hurt you to blow other people's feelings with it. You'll be left intact out of the process but you might have done a lot of damage.

I'm not sure about the way it looks but I know it's here and inside us and it frightens me...

Bombs. Killing you and killing me, wherever we both are.

der isn't important because they are viewed as below the line of compassion, somehow not worth it, not human, not real. This marginalization, the process of dehumanizing more and more people, is on going and growing more and more broad. There's less to go around yet people still want to live up to the same sort of standard. So it must be denied to larger and larger amounts of people as well. And so denying to these others seems justifiable in their minds they need to push them out of their conscienceness, below their level of compassion. (After all these years of work on the animal rights front, trying to get animals above people's level of compassion it's ironic to think that animals haven't really moved up much in people's minds but other human beings are down there with the animals now, below most people's level of compassion.) It's getting to a point where most people only relate to and have a true sense of compassion for others who are almost identical to themselves.

This dehumanization has led to the situation where growing numbers of people are living well below the poverty line and the ultra-rich are firmly entrenched in their ivory towers. The gap between the haves and the have nots is growing larger and more distinct. And I don't know if it's my somewhat apocalyptic world view but it seems like the people are being groomed for the creation of an "unwashed" type under class of people. A people with no rights and below

My boss doesn't mind my lateness. I work hard. I stay late. When I was younger, my mother used to buy me wristwatches. Birthdays, holidays, graduations, always the same plastic Timex box with the same plastic watch inside. I'd give them away. Or lose them.

Much of my motivation to use/make cloth menstrual pads came from never feeling completely comfortable or safe using mass-produced pads or tampons. Also, the cost is fucking ridiculous, in the U.S. it's at least like $4-6 for a small box of either product, neither of which is particularly healthy; due to the materials they're made of, as well as chemicals and toxins they contain. One of the scariest of these is dioxin, which can cause cancer, not to mention birth defects and reproductive disorders. It's been really hard to find out much information about what exactly different companies may use, because they don't tell you shit when you write and ask. Of course, if there's money to be made and they're not required to inform people of possible risks, why would they bother! Even the other cloth pads I've seen for sale have been $6-8 each, which is totally outta my range, plus I'd rather be spending it on music, or shows, books, whatever, you know. TSS (toxic shock syndrome: something you can get from leaving tampons, and contraceptive sponges in too long, may cause death... I mean this is serious shit for those people who may think this is a bunch of feminist crap) is a threat to our well being, along with other bacterial infections that go hand in hand with using synthetic/plastic pads; because they don't allow air to circulate, and can become breeding grounds for all sorts of nastiness. Not to mention the amount of waste using throw-away pads/tampons contribute to. It's ironic how many people are all for the environment and recycling etc... but when it comes to using cloth diapers for their babies, or cloth pads for themselves their reaction is, "eww, gross, that's so disgusting". Rather than dealing with natural occurrences and substances like blood and shit, it seems most people would rather keep piling up the landfills till we're up to our eyeballs in garbage, which personally I think would be A WHOLE LOT more disgusting to deal with!! Especially for people with, or planning on raising children to not be concerned or responsible for their lifestyles, shows a totally shit attitude about what we're passing on and what habits we're teaching future generations. Blah, blah blah, right but if you think about it, it's as true and effectual as people passing on fucked up racist, sexist, speciest, etc... habits. It has to do with the need to break down the stereotypes that most people are taught about menstruation being a: dirty, bad, taboo, negative, etc... thing, and not to discuss it. Keeping wimmins sex, and monthly bleeding hidden, secret and artificially floral scented is the goal of most companies (ring a patriarchal bell anyone?) With slogans like, "no one will ever know", "our products will keep you smelling (toxically) fresh and feeling dry (so dry in fact you may even experience internal lesions! Oh joy!)". Such advertising is a bunch of fucking propaganda, worded to make us think they're doing us a favor, helping out to take away the inconvenience of helping ourselves (hum, ring a fascist bell for anyone?), and further sequestering what it is to be femmy! Menstruation IS: the lining of a womin's uterus breaking down when it is not needed to sustain a fertilized egg (for those not quite clear about that), a completely natural albeit messy, and sometimes painful. But, IT IS NOT: a curse, sin, or anything to be ashamed of as we may be led to believe. It's SO frustrating how ignorant, and uninformed people are, and the way society has a way of perpetuating and standardizing false assumptions, to our own detriment. Question everything, make your own conclusions!! For example, if you had to piss, you wouldn't go buy a sponge and shove it in your bladder (somehow, O.K. obviously, but if you've ever before known a virgin to try to insert a tampon I'm sure you can relate) to soak up the waste your body is trying to get rid of, right?! So, why is it that wommin are expected to use plastic applicators and toxin filled absorbers to soak up something our bodies have already figured out a way to remove. LET IT FLOW!!

Is it really such a big deal to not go swimming for a week, or wear loose dark clothes for a few days ('leakage' paranoia...)? And is it really worth all the risks big business, and male dominated medical traditions (tested for "effectiveness" on animals) aren't willing to tell the truth about?? It's just another form of modern day slavery to be dependent on products you don't need, made by companies that flourish in greed. By encouraging the use of, (and making your own), and using our imaginations to come up with as many re-usable, re-cyclable things for our every-day lives, we're not only making existing a little nicer: we're reducing the influence of monopolized, profiteering business = A BIG FUCK OFF TO THE MONOPOLIZED! (Note: This is a parody of the "A Big Fuck Off to the Monopolized" slogan from the Green Day album "Dookie".)

ZINE REVIEWS

Abape Freer #12 ($1 sample/$7 for 5 most recent issues/POB 759-SL/Veneta OR 97487) This is a wonderful bulletin newsletter publication which lists collected and contributed bits focusing on places in the USA that allow more freedom, tolerance and cultural variety with less restrictions, taxes and bullshit. Oregon, Montana and New Hampshire rank among the top states to find these desired freedoms. The format allows for short bits of news and suggestions based on experience. I'm sorry to see that this is the last issue Pat will be organizing, especially because each issue of this seems to be more meaningful and valuable to me as I get closer to actually working on my goal of moving towards a rural and free living environment. Also lists other publications that emphasize freedom.

Amerika: On Trial #1 (Karolyn/Box 2417/206 Main St./Northfield MA 01360) This is a photo zine - photos of Aus Rotten, the Pist, Mankind, Drop Dead, Devold of Faith, Dead and Gone — and it includes info on each band (like how to get their records). Also reviews and a couple essay bits on political issues.

Annihilistic Society #2 ($1/Steve Carroll/10 Sudley Green Ct./Cherry Hill NJ 08003) This second issue has more organized pages in that they are all the same size. There's a long interview w/State of Filth but it's cut off at the end to be continued in the next issue and doesn't include an address so I'm not sure where they're from, but my guess is England. The rest of the zine is basically rants about rejecting the system and the state and the rich fuckers.

At The Crossroads #4 (stamps/donation to Travis M./POB 1032/Colorado Springs CO 80901) This is a cool zine that I wholeheartedly enjoyed and support. It's got an interesting style of cut and past article reprints with lots of comments, news, blurbs, quotes and information handwritten into little boxes all across the page. It's all orderly and easy to read though having a style all of its own. The basic theme is social and political, supporting thoughtfulness and fighting the system and working towards living free and in harmony with the earth and others. Good stuff!

Attitude Problem #28 ($3/c/o A Network of Friends/POB 2576/Hardcore House/Colchester Essex CO3 4A4 England) This is Attitude Problem the hardcore-punk zine from England (not Arizona) and it's proven to be one of my very favorite zines! There's so much good reading here: many good columns, thoughts and even the interviews were so good that I read the whole thing cover to cover and even found myself getting so excited in agreement with the thoughtful angles that I wanted to reprint a lot of the stuff into S&L. There's intv. w/ Drop Dead, MassKontroll, Envy and Special Duties. I was really disappointed that the Special Duties said they're influenced by the punk revival that Green Day started and that they're about the best band in the past 10 years (that got me worked up) - all the interviews are

(an excellent band with members of Sore Throat, Napalm Death, Ripchord and a host of other UK crust bands) and Profane Existence. This is right up my alley of interest and it is extremely well done which makes for an excellent and favorite zine!! Three cheers for this one to still be kicking!!

Bamboo Girl #4 ($2/Sabrina/POB 2828/NY NY 10185-2828) This zine is fat and full of "colored girl angst", as the intro promises. Packed with interesting stuff: Filipino mythology, various writings confronting stereotypes of Asian women, an interview with Abusive Relations (an all-woman band from the Philippines), a big article on Thorazine, an account of breast surgery, anti-fascism, letters, reviews and lots more. (—Kyanne)

Bottle-Fed - The Anti-Literary Journal of Sour Grapes ($3/615 Howard Place #401/Madison WI 53703) This is a big fat reading zine. It basically reads like a story/journal and I got really into it. About half was a story about frustrations with journalism school and wallowing in drunkenness with friends. How come writers usually hit the bottle, a lot? Well, I enjoyed it a lot, but then I got sorta down by the wallowing and self-pity, or at least the negativity of it and I didn't want to read anymore. I'm not sure that dismissal is fair though, cause the rest seems to be short, fictional stories. Like I said, lots to read and it's well written - so if you want to read then check it out.

Chumple #65, 66 (stamp/POB 680/Conneaut Lake, PA 16316-0680) This is a one pager zine - including bits and pieces of info about various bands, zines, etc. (—Kyanne)

Cimabue #1 (2 stamps/Jamie Brennen/54 N. Montgomery Ave./Norristown PA 19403) A good first issue with mostly personal thoughts and expression. Brief rants on random daily experiences that I enjoyed reading. Also a tour story of the band Gaslight. All in all I think it's a good first issue, but the level of confidence could be higher. If you say, "I got bored after writing just a few words and didn't want to write anymore" - it doesn't exactly entice the reader.

Defecation #3 (2 stamps/Brendan Sheridan/Amongen Hong Kong/PSC 464 Box 30/FPO AP 96522/USA) This reads like a story or diary of an American living in Hong Kong in what I assume is a family military situation. I think it's pretty interesting that the government manages to make a Hong Kong address part of the U.S.A. mail system. Most of the stories are about getting drunk and liking girls and not having a girlfriend - neither of which is very interesting to me, but it was still overall an interesting zine - I guess mostly the differences of life there vs. here.

Des Serpents Siffleut Comme La Pivie Sur Les Pavés ($3/Yves Prigent/BP 07/78110 Les Vesines/France) OK, I took 3 years of French, but I still can't really read this - it's short stories and photos - the format is beautiful and I only wish I could read it. Obviously Yves put a lot of work into this, so if you read French maybe you should check it out. (—Kyanne)

Eve #6 (50pp, offset, full size, $3.95 153 E. Lindsay St., ste 108, Greensboro, NC, 24701-307) This time out they cover eyeball removal surgery, new legislation censoring sexual expression, maintaining privacy, zombie movies, and quitting heroin. The articles are all well written, well researched, and most importantly, well documented. This has become one of my favorite zines. If you haven't seen it yet, you're missing out. (—Tad)

Fanzine #2 ($2/69 Governor Box 214/Providence RI 02906) I really don't like when zine writers talk about their girlfriends and broken relationships. Sometimes maybe it's relevant, but most of the time I read it thinking, why do I want to know about this and why is it any of my business. Well there was a lot of that in this zine - and writing along that line that wasn't especially interesting to me mainly because I wasn't compelled to become involved with it. Maybe it's all in the way that it's approached. Some interviews - Ashley Von advertising is a bunch of fucking propaganda, worded to make us think they're doing us a favor, helping out to take away the inconvenience of helping ourselves (hum, ring a fascist bell for anyone?), and further sequestering what it is to be femal! Menstruation IS: the lining of a woman's uterus breaking down when it is not needed to sustain a fertilized egg (for those not quite clear about that), a completely natural albeit messy, and sometimes painful. But, IT IS NOT: a curse, sin, or anything to be ashamed of as we may be led to believe. It's SO frustrating how ignorant, and uninformed people are, and the way society has a way of perpetuating and standardizing false assumptions, to our own detriment. Question everything, make your own conclusions!! For example, if you had to piss, you wouldn't go buy a sponge and shove it in your bladder (somehow, O.K. obviously, but if you've ever before known a virgin to try to insert a tampon I'm sure you can relate) to soak up the waste your body is trying to get rid of, right?! So, why is it that woman are expected to use plastic applicators and toxin filled absorbers to soak up something our bodies have already figured out a way to remove. LET IT FLOW!!

Is it really such a big deal to not go swimming for a week, or wear loose dark clothes for a few days ('leakage' paranoia...)? And is it really worth all the risks big business, and make dominated medical traditions (tested for "effectiveness" on animals) aren't willing to tell the truth about?? It's just another form of modern day slavery to be dependent on products you don't need, made by companies that flourish on greed. By encouraging the use of, (and making your own), and using our imaginations to come up with as many reusable, re-cyclable things for our every-day lives, we're not only making existing a little nicer: we're reducing the influence of monopolized, profiteering business = A BIG FUCK OFF TO THE SYSTEM!!! Now that's D.I.Y. punk!!! For info, or whatever you might have to say, write to: Skuld the Rag Hag c/o P. Martinez/PO Box 529/ Tannersville NY 12485 US@.

towards a rural and free living environment. Also lists other publications that emphasize freedom.
America: On Trial #1 (Karolyn/Box 2417/ 206 Main St/ Northfield MA 01360) This is a photo zine - photos of Aus Rotten, the Plst, Mankind, Drop Dead, Devold of Faith, Dead and Gone — and it includes info on each band (like how to get their records). Also reviews and a couple essay bits on political issues.
Annihilistic Society #2 ($1/ Steve Carroll/ 10 Sudley Green Ct/ Cherry Hill NJ 08003) This second issue has more organized pages in that they are all the same size. There's a long interview w/ State of Filth but it's cut off at the end to be continued in the next issue and doesn't include an address so I'm not sure where they're from, but my guess in England. The rest of the zine is basically rants about rejecting the system and the state and the rich fuckers.

At The Crossroads #4 (stamps/ donation to Travis M/ POB 1032/ Colorado Springs CO 80901) This is a cool zine that I wholeheartedly enjoyed and support. It's got an interesting style of cut and past article reprints with lots of comments, news, blurbs, quotes and information handwritten into little boxes all across the page. It's all orderly and easy to read though having a style all of it's own. The basic theme is social and political, supporting thoughtfulness and fighting the system and working towards living free and in harmony with the earth and others. Good stuff!

Attitude Problem #28 ($3/ c/o A Network of Friends/ POB 2576/ Hardcore House/ Colchester Essex CO3 4A4 England) This is Attitude Problem the hardcore-punk zine from England (not Arizona) and it's proven to be one of my very favorite zines! There's so much good reading here: many good columns, thoughts and even the interviews were so good that I read the whole thing cover to cover and even found myself getting so excited in agreement with the thoughtful angles that I wanted to reprint a lot of the stuff into S&L. There's Intv. w/ Drop Dead, MassKontroll, Envy and Special Duties. I was really disappointed that the Special Duties said they're influenced by the punk revival that Green Day started and that they're about the best band in the past 10 years (that got me worked up) - all the interviews are good and long with a lot of good stuff in them. The columns talk about such things as getting actively involved and not sitting back and expecting others to do things for you and generally challenging your mind and thoughts in a positive direction. I can't agree enough! Excellent reading and most very highly recommended!!!

Aunt Franne #3 ($2/ Anne/ POB 523/ Stratford NJ 08084) Another good issue with lots of variety. A summary of a trip to Chicago for the Queer Punk Fest, info on menstruation and tampon alternatives, a record store in PA called Good As Any Better n' Some, loads of reviews all put into a wild cut and paste layout, intv. w/ Lone Wolves and a short specific one w/ Ben Weasel, columns and more.

Aversion #3 ($2ppd/ Chris Banks/ PO Box 22/ Bradford BD2 4YX/UK) One of the best, no, how about - the best British peace punk zine - focusing around political grindy punk rock. Featuring interviews with Doom, Cracked Cop Skulls sive Relations (an all-woman band from the Philippines), a big article on Thorazine, an account of breast surgery, anti-fascism, letters, reviews and lots more. (—Kyanne)

Bottle-Fed - The Anti-Literary Journal of Sour Grapes ($3/ 615 Howard Place #401/ Madison WI 53703) This is a big fat reading zine. It basically reads like a story/journal and I got really into it. About half was a story about frustrations with journalism school and wallowing in drunkenness with friends. How come writers usually hit the bottle, a lot? Well, I enjoyed it a lot, but then I got sorta down by the wallowing and self-pity, or at least the negativity of it and I didn't want to read anymore. I'm not sure that dismissal is fair though, cause the rest seems to be short, fictional stories. Like I said, lots to read and it's well written - so if you want to read then check it out.

Chumple #65, 66 (stamp/ POB 680/ Conneaut Lake, PA 16316-0680) This is a one pager zine - including bits and pieces of info about various bands, zines, etc. (—Kyanne)

Cimabue #1 (2 stamps/ Jamie Brenner/ 54 N. Montgomery Ave/ Norristown PA 19403) A good first issue with mostly personal thoughts and expression. Brief rants on random daily experiences that I enjoyed reading. Also a tour story of the band Gaslight. All in all I think it's a good first issue, but the level of confidence could be higher. If you say, "I got bored after writing just a few words and didn't want to write anymore" - it doesn't exactly entice the reader.

Defecation #3 (2 stamps/ Brendan Sheridan/ Amcongong Hong Kong/ PSC 464 Box 30/ FPO AP 96522/ USA) This reads like a story or diary of an American living in Hong Kong in what I assume is a family military situation. I think it's pretty interesting that the government manages to make a Hong Kong address part of the U.S.A. mail system. Most of the stories are about getting drunk and liking girls and not having a girlfriend - neither of which is very interesting to me, but it was still overall an interesting zine - I guess mostly the differences of life there vs. here.

Des Serpents Siffleur Comme La Pivie Sur Les Pavés ($3/ Yves Prigent/ BP 07/ 78110 Les Vesinet/ France) OK, I took 3 years of French, but I still can't really read this - it's short stories and photos - the format is beautiful and I only wish I could read it. Obviously Yves put a lot of work into this, so if you read French maybe you should check it out. (—Kyanne)

Eye #6 (50pp, offset, full size, $3.95 153 E. Lindsay St., ste 108, Greensboro, NC, 24701-307) This time out they cover eyeball removal surgery, new legislation censoring sexual expression, maintaining privacy, zombie movies, and quitting heroin. The articles are all well written, well researched, and most importantly, well documented. This has become one of my favorite zines. If you haven't seen it yet, you're missing out. (—Tad)

Fanzine #2 ($2/ 69 Governor Box 214/ Providence RI 02906) I really don't like when zine writers talk about their girlfriends and broken relationships. Sometimes maybe it's relevant, but most of the time I read it thinking, why do I want to know about this and why is it any of my business. Well there was a lot of that in this zine - and writing along that line that wasn't especially interesting to me mainly because I wasn't compelled to become involved with it. Maybe it's all in the way that it's approached. Some interviews - Ashley Von Hurter and the Haters, Laurels and film maker Helen Stickler. And a lot of reviews. This is a big fat newsprint zine but I wasn't really that interested.

Fucktooth #20 ($2/ Jen Angel/ POB 3593/ Columbus OH 43210) My favorite zine! I was reading this with full enthusiasm, enjoying every word and then lost it at the Avail show and had to send away for another so that I could devour the rest of it. Jen is totally rad, has loads of enthusiasm and writes about everything she's thinking about - in a very up front and interesting way. From personal stuff to political stuff. There's a big section called "50 Ways To Be Punk" which has interviews with a load of "scensters" about what they do and where their inspiration comes. These interviews are really well done and give full voice to the people as individuals (rather than representatives of their band etc.). Highly inspiration!! There's also more that I haven't gotten to yet - but the total combination of music, personal thoughts, health issues and politics is so right on in my eyes that I get really excited about this one! (The offset printing ink smell on the paper is addictive too!) Totally recommend this one!!! Global Mail #14 (May-Aug.) ($3/POB 410837/SF CA 94141) This is an excellent resource guide if you're interested in mail art projects. Contains over 850 listings from 45 countries including book projects, zines, archives, actions, boycotts, resources, distros, exchanges, websites, sound and video projects, mail art events and some pen pal contacts as well. Loads of valuable information! It's also accessible on the www: <http://www.well.com/user/soapbox/eglobal.html>.

HeartheCk #9 ($1US/$2world/POB 848/Goleta CA 93116) This is always one of my favorite zines to read whenever I find one. It's pretty incredible that it's only 25¢ to buy in person - which is a bargain for a big fat 65 page newsprint zine crammed full of good info on the hardcore and punk scene. Loads of good columns, a letters section this time debating rape and date rape as accused of Chris Bonner, music and zine reviews, and perhaps best of all - a resource within the community of hc/punk!

Icarus Was Right #2 ($3/PO Box 191175/San Diego CA 92159) For a relatively new zine this is pretty unbelievable. All the more so because it's put together by high school students. Not that age has much relevance - but it is still really impressive to me to see such a professional and well done zine production that is obviously completely thought out and executed and all the more by younger folks. Each issue of this zine comes in a different format and a lot of attention is put to the layout, as well as the writing content. Special articles on bar codes, freedom, evolution as well as an interview with Ian of Fugazi. Reviews of books, movies, zines and music. Extremely well done and I'm glad that they're not gonna go for the massive distributor cause it's more impressive to see it done DIY! In Whores We Trust #2 ($1/POB 307/Franklin Square, NY 11010-0307) Zines that have scratchy hand-drawn and hand-written covers generally don't grab my attention. Nor the contents of this, which are basically pretty random selections of things. Pissing stories, poetry, random stuff. Interviews w/The Cocktails, Lunachicks and No Use For A Name. Short stories and show reviews.

Little Free Press #115-#137 (stamps/2714 First Ave S/Mpls MN 55408) This is a 4 page weekly, or at least monthly newsletter published by a man who "dropped out" of the rat race in '69 and continues to share his thoughts and ideas on how to create a life with more freedom and less dependence on money. Though reading a whole bunch of these issues at once is a bit repetitive, since they're all based on the same ideas, I always enjoy this newsletter and also recommend it! Ernest doesn't ask for any money for this, just send a stamp per issue.

Mac Paradiak #43-45 ($42/PO Box 67/81-806 Sopot 6 Poland) This monthly magazine book is so impressive each time that I wish there was something like this in America, or at least in English. But then of course if this were in English (it's in Polish) then I would have quite a backlog of reading to do! Each issue is nearly 100 pages (1/2 size) with a cardstock color cover - which is all good looking and impressive enough. But the contents are a fabulous mix of politics (of the anarchist slant) and music (punk). The combination is really great! With information and in-depth articles and then a supplement in the center covering the worldwide punk scene with interviews and reviews and further contacts. I highly recommend this to everyone - if you read Polish then you must get it, and even if you don't - get one just to see what this is all about - and be inspired!!

Maxine's Pages #34 (Mar) ($1 + SASE/Crystal Rain/POB 866/Manchester GA 31816) This is one of the oddest publications that I receive and quite honestly I have yet to really figure out what it's all about. It's 4 typed pages talking about informers and political groups; this time observing a Klan rally and protest.

Mercury HQ #2 (Will Meek/PO Box 41393/Brecksville OH 44141)

of which make for it to be the ultimate means for a zine. But best of all is that Chris Jensen is a wonderful writer and invites you into a glimpse of his life and world through his zine with much of the same style that I try to do with S&L, except that I think he's a much better writer. Based around the Long Island Hardcore and punk scene this little gem talks about regional bands and shows and general scene stuff but also moves beyond that into the other sides of Chris' life which include teaching and in the Feb. issue a ski trip with his students. It's real, poignant and just beautiful in my eyes. Without a doubt I can't recommend enough that you should send a bunch of stamps and get these regularly. (stamp per issue).

My World Is... #5 ($3/BP 07/78110 Le Vesine/France) Written half in French and half in English (with this issue having more French than past) contains interviews w/Vulture Culture and Erased Today, zine and music reviews, and a travel story about Cuba. The rest being in French, I can't really comment on - but there's some scene info and more including a comic from Stephane.

Open Zine #1 ($2ppd/7013 SW 83 Ct/Miami FL 33143) A debut issue on newsprint format! This has an interview w/John the guy that does the Queen of the Scene comics, and a talk with the x-trumpet player from Against All Authority that was almost so personal that I didn't want to read it and an intv. w/the Voodoo Glow Skulls. Plus some reviews and coffee talk.

Ox - Face The Facts #22 ($72/cb Joachim Hiller/PO Box 14 34 45/D-45264 Essen Germany) I think the best thing about this zine for those who don't read German, has to be the fact that it comes with a CD with 29 bands on it. The most notable bands on this compilation are Blanks 77, SFA, Funeral Oration, 88 Fingers Louie, Richies, and Bambix, though overall no particular tracks really grabbed me. The zine (written in German) has interviews w/Bottom 12, Good Riddance, Family Values, Ignite, Wreckage Records, Cows, Blow Hard, Horace Pinker, Dead Moon, Tilt, Don Fury, John Yates, plus loads of reviews, comics and more.

And all of this is in reduced type - so that this is a ton, I mean a ton of stuff to read here on these pages!! Well done.

Phalanx #10 ($1/Brian/7100 East Evans Ave. #329 A/Denver CO 80224) This one is right up my alley - along the lines of music I like with thoughtful writing and an artistic focus with artwork and layout. Truly an excellent zine and one of my favorites! Interviews with Los Crudos, Code 13, Final Conflict, Simon Gane from Arnie comic, plenty of reviews - following along the grindy peace punk variety plus an excellent section of columns. I found a lot of good thoughts and ideas expressed here and wholeheartedly enjoyed reading this! Without a doubt a favorite and most highly recommended!

Point Blank #6 ($1 + stamps/cb Doug/PO Box 114/Mt. Orab OH 45154) This zine's a whole year old but a good one and you can still get a copy of it. Crusty peace punk noizey interviews w/Morticite, Suppression, Preparation H, Rekt, Doom, Avulsion, Hellnation and Dystopia plus some more good reading. These guys have always been cool and I'm glad that they're still kicking with whatever activities they're up to - write and see!

w/Execradores from Brasil, and the reviews, letters and columns. Profane is a favorite and these issues are both excellent!!

Publik Enema #10 ($1US/$2 world/25686 Nugget/EI Toro CA 92630) This is mostly a travel diary, plus excerpts from "Bomb the Suburbs", and various other intriguing stories/articles - like the photos found in Oregon of hundreds of strange bikini'd women taken by some pervert guy, a huge letters section, lots of book reviews, collages - real dense and chunky - great zine, specially for the price! (— Kyanne)

Punx Unite Newsletter #1 (May) (stamp/cb Dan or Klaus/62 Creekwood/Cincinnati OH 45246) This is a cool one pager newsletter talking about punk rock in the region of Cincinnati with an introduction to the idea for forming this and reviewing some shows and listing some upcoming ones. I'm all for this kinda of communication!!

Riot Girl Review #1 (2 stamps/Kristy/922 NE 17th Street/Cape Coral FL 33909) This is an all review zine, focusing on zines and music done primarily by women but not exclusively riot girls or feminists. Anyone remember Sarah Dyer and Action Girl? Well this sort of picks up where Sarah has left off and is a commendable attempt at keeping the lines of contacts and communication open!! Check it out!

Riotous Assembly #1 (Jan-Mar.) (2 stamps/$1 or 2 IRC's overseas/POB 20302/Boulder CO 80308) An excellent new zine in the style and format of S&L. It's got more focus on news and politics, making it like a cross between S&L and Profane Existence. Noise and zine reviews, classifieds, political news, a short interview with State of Fear from Mpls, and the Riotous Assembly mailorder list make up the contents of these 8 pages of newsprint. Excellent format and highly recommended! A new issue should be out about now, or soon!

Ripping Thrash #11/Hell and Damnation #1 ($4ppd/Ripping Thrash/PO Box 152/Burton-On-Trent/Staff/DE14 1XX/England) Split zine with a classic issue from Ripping Thrash containing interviews w/Acao Direta (from Brazil), Das Clown (CA), Chaotic End (Greece), Apocalypse Babys (UK), scene reports from South Africa and Bulgaria, and reviews. And the debut issue of the handwritten Hell and Damnation which interviews Suffer (UK), and Pink Flamingos (Germany), has a load of reviews, some kick ass art and some basic thoughts and stuff on Celtic tattooing, anarchism, animal rights issues, and the band

Slingshot #54 (Spring) ($2/Long Haul/3124 Shattuck Avenue/Berkeley CA 94705) I'm so glad to see that Slingshot is still publishing cause this is a really good newspaper covering politics on a world level, but also with a focus on the East Bay community. I've always liked the feel of this paper - it covers a lot of serious issues, but manages to have a comfortable accessible look and layout (lots of graphics). Info on Radio Free Berkeley and free radio stations across the country, the People's Park, Cuba, East Timor, affirmative action, immigration and Mumia Abu Jamal. Check it out! Social Unrest! #4 ($2/Mail Box 138/4001 Stockdale Hwy/Bakersfield CA 93309) This zine proves that Southern California is keeping passive protest in the form of peace punk alive and well! I really like this zine a lot - it's got good information and a good attitude. Contains a lot of reprinted articles and info on animal rights and liberation info, defense of immigrants, Food Not Bombs, Copwatch, diy cloth menstrual pads, voting, companies that test their products on animals, So. Cal peace festival and the local scene plus band interviews with Resist and Exist, Siren, and Black Label. Good stuff!!

Stomping Bulldog #1 ($42/O. Stadtmuhlgasse 4/91781 Weissenburg Germany) A good debut issue covering Oi-ska-punk focusing mostly on skinheads. Interviews w/Pure Impact, Condemned 84, Anti-Heros, Pressure 28, Kro0men, Invaders and more. Reviews and lots of pictures (mostly of skinheads and bulldogs). It's all in German.

Stuck in Traffic #9-14 ($2/$10 for year/Calvin Stacy Powers/2012 Talloway Drive/Cary NC 27511) This is a 4 page personal newsletter that talks about current events and random bits of life, which I enjoyed a lot. For someone like me who totally avoids all news and current events it is nice to read a fairly light-hearted, yet intelligent and critical evaluation of the bullshit going on out there in the world. But the serious topics are also broken up by seasonal things. It's somewhat random, but also very organized with a catchy layout - making it intriguing. I liked it!

Tangent Zine #3 ($1 + 2 stamps/PO Box 178/VSpokane WA 99210) I was instantly drawn to the stencil word cover and the mini Tangent 3.5 that is attached by a string and the patch that all came with this. And so I saved it to savor for a time when I could commit myself to read it all (cause it's got a lot of pages (52) to read. It sorta focuses on the personal side talking a lot about gender issues - with talk of rape and homosexuality and some thoughts on gender confusion - all of which was interested to read. There's writing by several contributors which keeps the viewpoints varied. I liked this one quite a bit.

The Texas Show List (stamp/POB 8054/Austin TX 78713-8054) Jeremy compiles this excellent list of shows and events happening in various cities in Texas for the month, as well as listing club and record store information. This is an excellent source of info and really pretty invaluable. If you've got info to contribute - send it to him. If you live in Texas send a stamp and get a copy and see what's up. And every one else should think about the possibilities of doing something like this in your own area or state. Get informed and connected!!

Tripwire Fanzine #25 ($1/4212 E. 25th Street/Tucson AZ 85711) Some thoughts on politicians and voting in elections, defense of animals in labs, a big interview (part 2) with the band Toepath and some other bits.

Under The Volcano #30 ($2/POB 236/Nesconset NY 11767) This is a 5 year anniversary issue and includes reprints of what they consider to be the best of or most representative of the past 5 years of coverage. Includes interviews w/Jesus Lizard, Jayne Country, Rancid, the Offspring, NOFX, Dischord Records, Jello Biafra, Peter Murphy, the Swans, and more. An excellent issue!

1 in 12 Club news zine (21-23 Albion Street/Bradford, West Yorkshire England) The 1 in 12 is England's, or at least Bradford's equal to ABC NO RIO - a collective arts space that has gigs among other things. This news zine which has yet to be named, marks the 15th section this time debating rape and date rape as accused of Chris Bonner, music and zine reviews, and perhaps best of all - a resource within the community of hc/punk!

Icarus Was Right #2 ($3/ PO Box 191175/ San Diego CA 92159) For a relatively new zine this is pretty unbelievable. All the more so because it's put together by high school students. Not that age has much relevance - but it is still really impressive to me to see such a professional and well done zine production that is obviously completely thought out and executed and all the more by younger folks. Each issue of this zine comes in a different format and a lot of attention is put to the layout, as well as the writing content. Special articles on bar codes, freedom, evolution as well as an interview with Ian of Fugazi. Reviews of books, movies, zines and music. Extremely well done and I'm glad that they're not gonna go for the massive distributor cause it's more impressive to see it done DIY!

In Whores We Trust #2 ($1/ POB 307/ Franklin Square, NY 11010-0307) Zines that have scratchy hand-drawn and hand-written covers generally don't grab my attention. Nor the contents of this, which are basically pretty random selections of things. Pissing stories, poetry, random stuff. Interviews w/ The Cocktails, Lunachicks and No Use For A Name. Short stories and show reviews.

Little Free Press #115-#137 (stamps/ 2714 First Ave S/ Mpls MN 55408) This is a 4 page weekly, or at least monthly newsletter published by a man who "dropped out" of the rat race in '69 and continues to share his thoughts and ideas on how to create a life with more freedom and less dependence on money. Though reading a whole bunch of these issues at once is a bit repetitive, since they're all based on the same ideas, I always enjoy this newsletter and also recommend it! Ernest doesn't ask for any money for this, just send a stamp per issue.

Mac Parada #43-45 ($42/ PO Box 67/ 81-806 Sopot 6 Poland) This monthly magazine book is so impressive each time that I wish there was something like this in America, or at least in English. But then of course if this were in English (it's in Polish) then I would have quite a backlog of reading to do! Each issue is nearly 100 pages (1/2 size) with a cardstock color cover - which is all good looking and impressive enough. But the contents are a fabulous mix of politics (of the anarchist slant) and music (punk). The combination is really great! With information and in-depth articles and then a supplement in the center covering the worldwide punk scene with interviews and reviews and further contacts. I highly recommend this to everyone - if you read Polish then you must get it, and even if you don't - get one just to see what this is all about - and be inspired!!

Maxine's Pages #34 (Mar) ($1 + SASE/ Crystal Rain/ POB 866/ Manchester GA 31816) This is one of the oddest publications that I receive and quite honestly I have yet to really figure out what it's all about. It's 4 typed pages talking about informers and political groups; this time observing a Klan rally and protest.

Mercury H9 #2 (Will Meek/ PO Box 41393/ Brecksville OH 44141) There's something about the attitude in this zine that turned me off. I guess it was the anti-pc rant about why it's annoying to say mail person instead of mail man, and while I understand that petty arguments over language are boring and annoying - it's also worth nothing the reason why people object to tagging man onto words all the time. And to top it off to explain that ALL MALES love lesbian sex because it's the only thing that they can't experience is just irritating, not because it offends me - but because I think it's a sweeping generalization that is ignorant. Besides these rants there's an intv. w/ Fig Dish and some reviews.

Mountain Monthly (Feb) (March) (SASE/ PO Box 1172/ Huntington NY 11743-0656) This is a favorite for all of the reasons it can be. First of all it's good. It's free. It's in my favorite 1/4 sized format. All the rest being in French, the best thing I can't really comment on - but there's some scene info and more including a comic from Stephane.

Open Zine #1 ($2ppd/ 7013 SW 83 Ct/ Miami FL 33143) A debut issue on newsprint format! This has an interview w/ John the guy that does the Queen of the Scene comics, and a talk with the x-trumpet player from Against All Authority that was almost so personal that I didn't want to read it and an intv. w/ the Voodoo Glow Skulls. Plus some reviews and coffee talk.

Ox - Face The Facts #22 ($72/ c/o Joachim Hiller/ PO Box 14 34 45/ D-45264 Essen Germany) I think the best thing about this zine for those who don't read German, has to be the fact that it comes with a CD with 29 bands on it. The most notable bands on this compilation are Blanks 77, SFA, Funeral Oration, 88 Fingers Louie, Richies, and Bambix, though overall no particular tracks really grabbed me. The zine (written in German) has interviews w/ Bottom 12, Good Riddance, Family Values, Ignite, Wreckage Records, Cows, Blow Hard, Horace Pinker, Dead Moon, Tilt, Don Fury, John Yates, plus loads of reviews, comics and more.

And all of this is in reduced type - so that this is a ton, I mean a ton of stuff to read here on these pages!! Well done.

Phalanx #10 ($1/ Brian/ 7100 East Evans Ave. #329 A/ Denver CO 80224) This one is right up my alley - along the lines of music I like with thoughtful writing and an artistic focus with artwork and layout. Truly an excellent zine and one of my favorites! Interviews with Los Crudos, Code 13, Final Conflict, Simon Gane from Amie comic, plenty of reviews - following along the grindy peace punk variety plus an excellent section of columns. I found a lot of good thoughts and ideas expressed here and whole-heartedly enjoyed reading this! Without a doubt a favorite and most highly recommended!

Point Blank #6 ($1 + stamps/ c/o Doug/ PO Box 114/ Mt. Orab OH 45154) This zine's a whole year old but a good one and you can still get a copy of it. Crusty peace punk noizey interviews w/ Morticite, Suppression, Preparation H, Rekt, Doom, Avulsion, Hellnation and Dystopia plus some more good reading. These guys have always been cool and I'm glad that they're still kicking with whatever activities they're up to - write and see!

Primary Documents (no price/ American Studies/ SUNY Old Westbury/ Old Westbury NY 11568-0201) Each issue is a compilation of articles and documents published about specific social occurrences, technological "advances", such as b&w tv, the immigration issue, sensationalism, development of the radio. (—Kyanne)

Profane Existence #27 & #28 ($2/ POB 8522/ Mpls MN 55408) Profane is kicking some serious butt with this last bunch of issues!! #27 has a green cover and came out in December - it's got an interview with Dumpy (a fella who's spent some time in NYC, Mpls and plenty of other traveled roads), State of Fear, a bit fat news section, reviews (zines/music), letters and my favorite: the columns. Issue #28 just came out (maroon cover) with a Poland scene report, international political resistance news, summer events and gatherings, an interview contacts and communication open!! Check it out!

Riotous Assembly #1 (Jan-Mar.) (2 stamps/ $1 or 2 IRC's overseas/ POB 20302/ Boulder CO 80308) An excellent new zine in the style and format of S&L. It's got more focus on news and politics, making it like a cross between S&L and Profane Existence. Noise and zine reviews, classifieds, political news, a short interview with State of Fear from Mpls, and the Riotous Assembly mailorder list make up the contents of these 8 pages of newsprint. Excellent format and highly recommended! A new issue should be out about now, or soon!

Ripping Thrash #11/Hell and Damnation #1 ($4ppd/ Ripping Thrash/ PO Box 152/ Burton-On-Trent/ Staff/ DE14 1XX/ England) Split zine with a classic issue from Ripping Thrash containing interviews w/ Acao Direta (from Brazil), Das Klown (CA), Chaotic End (Greece), Apocalypse Babys (UK), scene reports from South Africa and Bulgaria, and reviews. And the debut issue of the handwritten Hell and Damnation which interviews Suffer (UK), and Pink Flamingos (Germany), has a load of reviews, some kick ass art and some basic thoughts and stuff on Celtic tattooing, anarchism, animal rights issues and the band Disorder. Good deal in all, read through Distraught's practice.

Self-Surpassing Animal #2 (March) ($1 + 2 stamps/ POB 13388/ Tampa FL 33681-3388) A big inspired interview with Into Another. Some thought expressive essays and music reviews. It's well done.

Serpent Speech #2 ($2-32/ 19 Rowland Ave./ Wollongong NSW 2500/ Australia) Death metal zine from down under. Intvs w/ Abramelin, My Dying Breed, Psychrist, Human, Beanflipper, Meridian, Demonic, Cannibal Corpse, a bit of hardcore with Toe to Toe and a bit of punk rock with Fly Cop.

Skywoman? (50¢ + stamp/ Greye Pineda/ POB 22441/ Santa Barbara CA 93121) Small 1/4 sized booklet that reads like artistic poetry. Writing about living in the foothills and observing nature and a lost friend. Much of it reads like a poetic letter to this lost friend.

introduction to the idea for forming this and reviewing some shows and listing some upcoming ones. I'm all for this kinda of communication!!

Riot Girl Review #1 (2 stamps/ Kristy/ 922 NE 17th Street/ Coral FL 33909) This is an all review zine, focusing on zines and music done primarily by women but not exclusively riot girls or feminists. Anyone remember Sarah Dyer and Action Girl? Well this sort of picks up where Sarah has left off and is a commendable attempt at keeping the lines of

Good stuff!!

Stomping Bulldog #1 ($42/ O. Stadmuhlgasse 4/ 91781 Weissenburg Germany) A good debut issue covering Oi-ska-punk focusing mostly on skinheads. Interviews w/ Pure Impact, Condemned 84, Anti-Heros, Pressure 28, KroOmen, Invaders and more. Reviews and lots of pictures (mostly of skinheads and bulldogs). It's all in German.

Stuck in Traffic #9-14 ($2/$10 for year/ Calvin Stacy Powers/ 2012 Talloway Drive/ Cary NC 27511) This is a 4 page personal newsletter that talks about current events and random bits of life, which I enjoyed a lot. For someone like me who totally avoids all news and current events it is nice to read a fairly light-hearted, yet intelligent and critical evaluation of the bullshit going on out there in the world. But the serious topics are also broken up by seasonal things. It's somewhat random, but also very organized with a catchy layout - making it intriguing. I liked it!

Tangent Zine #3 ($1 + 2 stamps/ PO Box 1781/ Spokane WA 99210) I was instantly drawn to the stencil word cover and the mini Tangent 3.5 that is attached by a string and the patch that all came with this. And so I saved it to savor for a time when I could commit myself to read it all (cause it's got a lot of pages (52) to read. It sorta focuses on the personal side talking a lot about gender issues - with talk of rape and homosexuality and some thoughts on gender confusion - all of which was interested to read. There's writing by several contributors which keeps the viewpoints varied. I liked this one quite a bit.

The Texas Show List (stamp/ POB 8054/ Austin TX 78713-8054) Jeremy compiles this excellent list of shows and events happening in various cities in Texas for the month, as well as listing club and record store information. This is an excellent source of info and really pretty invaluable. If you've got info to contribute - send it to him. If you live in Texas send a stamp and get a copy and see what's up. And every one else should think about the possibilities of doing something like this in your own area or state. Get informed and connected!!

Tripwire Fanzine #25 ($1/ 4212 E. 25th Street/ Tucson AZ 85711) Some thoughts on politicians and voting in elections, defense of animals in labs, a big interview (part 2) with the band Toepath and some other bits.

Under The Volcano #30 ($2/ POB 236/ Nesconset NY 11767) This is a 5 year anniversary issue and includes reprints of what they consider to be the best of or most representative of the past 5 years of coverage. Includes interviews w/ Jesus Lizard, Jayne Country, Rancid, the Offspring, NOFX, Dischord Records, Jello Biafra, Peter Murphy, the Swans, and more. An excellent issue!

1 in 12 Club news zine (21-23 Albion Street/ Bradford, West Yorkshire England) The 1 in 12 is England's, or at least Bradford's equal to ABC NO RIO - a collective arts space that has pigs among other things. This news zine which has yet to be named marks the 15th anniversary of the club. If you're interested in more information about this place write for a copy and send a dollar or some IRC's.

7-11 #3 (50¢ or trade/ Danny Noonan/ 18718 Rocky River Oval/ Rocky River OH 44116) Much different from the last issue and includes more contributions. The bulk of it is diary sort of journal writings and a big comic. There's more than that though - and it was a good read.

Chris' Reviews (s = favorites)

A.D.I. - Train Of Thought CD This is good hardcore tinged with metal. There's some really interesting stuff going on with bands like this that have a metal crunching edge with a basic hardcore sound, while adding in all sorts of instrumentation — various kinds of (mostly) guitar sounds that go all over the place and in lots of directions. The vocals seem to have some effects too and there's some double bass drums and it rocks! (Rigged Records/POB 7165/Rochelle Park NJ 07662)

Against All Authority - Destroy What Destroys You CD These guys are awesome! I think that they are the best in the way of ska-punk, playing with tons of energy that is all way upbeat and accented with the horns and uppy guitar. Excellent stuff! 22 songs on this disc, some of which have definitely been on vinyl before, but just how many I'm not sure. None the less, I'm going to assume that this is probably a compilation of all of their stuff and probably some that hasn't been released. They're a good band and so having this much of them in one place is a good thing!! (Far Out Records/POB 1436/Ft. Lauderdale FL 33302)

Anisoon - One Live Son Of A Bitch CD Southern hard and heavy, gruff vocaled and raw edged rockin' roll. ($10pp/POB 9128/Charlotte NC 28299)

* Ascension - The Years of Fire CD There seems to be this new style of hardcore crossed metal that stems from that crossover but goes a bit more metal with a hard crunching power and punching beat. With a heavy chugging guitar and lots of heavy power drums, it will definitely get your head nodding. Kinda reminds me of Bloodlet and what I believe is an uprise of this style - and I love it! (ToyBox Records/116 NW 13th St. #118/Gainesville FL 32601)

Asforti 7" These guys were over from Japan last year and made a good impression. This record seems even better than I remember them being then. Powerful and very fast whirlwind whipping Japanese hardcore. Great sound! (Prank/PO Box 410892/SC CA 94141-0892)

 Avail - 4 AM Friday LP I absolutely love Avail! I think I have to dedicate this season to them cause I've had some of the best times of spring seeing them, hanging out with them and listening to this new record. That may sound silly, but I know when I look back at certain seasons of past years I think of a particular band associated with that time. And Avail is about now for me. After listening to this a few times I was totally addicted. It's just as lovable as Dble and Slatie. RECORD REVIEWS

A.D.I. - Train Of Thought CD This is good hardcore tinged with metal. There's some really interesting stuff going on with bands like this that have a metal crunching edge with a basic hardcore sound, while adding in all sorts of instrumentation — various kinds of (mostly) guitar sounds that go all over the place and in lots of directions. The vocals seem to have some effects too and there's some double bass drums and it rocks! (Rigged Records/ POB 7165/ Rochelle Park NJ 07662)

Against All Authority - Destroy What Destroys You CD These guys are awesome! I think that they are the best in the way of ska-punk, playing with tons of energy that is all way upbeat and accented with the horns and uppity guitar. Excellent stuff! 22 songs on this disc, some of which have definitely been on vinyl before, but just how many I'm not sure. None the less, I'm going to assume that this is probably a compilation of all of their stuff and probably some that hasn't been released. They're a good band and so having this much of them in one place is a good thing!! (Far Out Records/ POB 1436/ Ft. Lauderdale FL 33302)

Antiseen - One Live Son Of A Bitch CD Southern hard and heavy, gruff vocaled and raw edged rockin' roll. ($10ppd/ POB 9128/ Charlotte NC 28299)

* Ascension - The Years of Fire CD There seems to be this new style of hardcore crossed metal that stems from that crossover but goes a bit more metal with a hard crunching power and punching beat. With a heavy chugging guitar and lots of heavy power drums, it will definitely get your head nodding. Kinda reminds me of Bloodlet and what I believe is an uprise of this style - and I love it!! (ToyBox Records/ 116 NW 13th St. #118/ Gainesville FL 32601)

Assfort 7 These guys were over from Japan last year and made a good impression. This record seems even better than I remember them being then. Powerful and very fast whirlwind whipping Japanese hardcore. Great sound!! (Prank/ PO box 410892/ SF CA 94141-0892)

 Avail - 4 AM Friday LP I absolutely love Avail! I think I have to dedicate this season to them cause I've had some of the best times of spring seeing them, hanging out with them and listening to this new record. That may sound silly, but I know when I look back at certain seasons of past years I think of a particular band associated with that time. And Avail is about now for me. After listening to this a few times I was totally addicted. It's just as lovable as Dikle and Satiata. I've got the turntable on a continual play and I just get tired of this at all - it just gets catchier and stuck in my head even better! It's got a little bit less of the super intense emotional out-breaking stuff, but at the same time

it totally rocks and has that powerful release. It's totally right on the track with everything they've done and I love it!!! (Lookout Records)

Axhandle Punk Compilation CD A really good compilation with a whole slew of good bands (some of which I was actually surprised to see on a small label comp. like this). There is quite a range from the Blanks 77 to White Trash Debutantes, also includes one song each from Heckel, Trunk, Litterbox, Squel, The Bar Feeders, Hickey, Fuknut, McCrackins, Cash Registers, The Dress, Uncle Skunk, Trick Baby and Plow United. Really good loud sound quality and it totally rocks with variety. A good listen for sure. ($10/ Axhandle Records/ 1827 McAllister St/ SF CA 94115)

Baby Harp Seal 7" Really slow emo instrumentation music. 2 songs which I think are pretty boring because it just doesn't go anywhere. It's peaceful background music though. ($3ppd/ Chainsaw Safety Records/ 85-16 88th Ave./ Woodhaven NY 11421)

Backstage comp. tape This is a pretty good compilation, the only problem is that the bands that I like most are ones that I'm already familiar with - MDM and Unhinged. The other bands (mostly from France) are Oscar Nip, Circular Rubbing Motion (USA), Guttersnipes, Freeze Kids, Noymen's, Fly's Fuckers and Cruz (USA). (Yann Verdalle/ 2 Pes Haunts de Beghac/ 33750 Beghac et Caillau/ France)

Bad Religion - Live At Philipshalle, Dusseldorf Germany tape I like Bad Religion. Good catchy likable tunes. This is a good live tape from '92 with good sound quality and all of the "hits" and songs that you would expect to be on it. ($10ppd/ PO Box 16184/ Newport Beach CA 92659)

Blindspot Mailorder Distro compilation CD I guess this is one of those samplers to give you an idea of what all of these bands that are on No Idea and Toybox sound like with sample tracks from various records. It's a good mix up of some melodic emos stuff, ska punk and crunchy metal. My favorites are AAA, Ascension, Assuck, Integrity and Less Than Jake. There's 33 bands in all - including Clairmel, Floodgate, Gus, Hol Water Music, Radon, Vanbuilderass, Venl, Spoke, Sparkmarker and more. It's a good way of hearing loads of bands to see what you like and it's an excellent deal at only $3!! ($3ppd/ Blindspot Mailorder/ PO Box 14636/ Gainesville FL 32604-4636)

Beyond Description - Fine Day Nostalgia 7" Fast and heavy grinding speeded up thrash, with a Swedish hc crossed with Jap-core kinda crunch, and it's from Japan. I like it. It's heavy and powerful with a metal crunching edge and it's got a grr-granimal craziness to it that is good!! ($6ppd/ Forest Records/ c/o Hideyuki Okahara/ Ceramica 2 #301, 1-37 Minami-cho/ 2-chome, Kokubunji-shi, Tokyo/ 185 Japan)

Bikini Kill - Reject All American CD In the past I really haven't paid all that much attention to the hype of them, though essentially I've always felt that I should really like Bikini Kill a lot. I think that finally this release may prove that to me - cause this is excellent! Kathleen's voice is awesome and she belts out these songs with such force that it gives me goose bumps. The power of her voice kinda reminds me of Poly Styrene from X Ray Spex which is an all time favorite of mine. It may sound silly, but I'm really glad that I like this as much as I do - and like it I do!! Fuck yeah!! (Kill Rock Stars/ 120 NE State #418/ Olympia WA 98501)

Blanks 77 - On Speed 5" All along I thought this was a CD, until I tried to play it and realized it was a vinyl 5", which my turntable won't play. 2 songs - Up All Night and Max Alert. (Headache Records/ PO Box 204/ Midland Park NJ 07432)

* Bloodlet - Eclectic CD When I first got this I was expecting some sort of macho HC thing and when some friends of mine tried to convince me to go see them, I felt pretty much the same thing with disinterest. Boy, how wrong could I be! I absolutely love this band to the point of being a newfound favorite and I'm glad they dragged me to see them or I probably wouldn't have ever known it! It's heavy to the point of evil with raw vocals all tuned way down to a hard rockin head nod with loads of big heavy drums and overall metal crunch that is absolutely delightful to me!! Big fuck yeah!! (Victory Records)

Bob Of Tribes - Does Anyone Have A Gun? 7" This has loads of energy and a catchy galloping drum beat and some sing-songy vocals. It sounds real good and has some interesting bits in it, but just doesn't make that much of a lasting impression on me. Though the last song is real catchy. (Sensual Underground Ministries/ 1430 S. Quincy Ave./ Tulsa OK 74120-5826)

* The Bolls - Hearts of the Oppressed 7" I love these guys and it's so awesome cause I had this idea in my head that they sounded totally different and now I feel kinda stupid - cause I really like them a lot, so I was missing out!! They've got a really good sound that has the incredible power of voices singing together (that may sound cheesy, but there's something really incredible about a few voices that really sing well together) overtop of some catchy punk music that has a whole bunch of different layers and angles happening, all of which gets inside me and takes me along with it! And good thoughtful lyrics too! It reminds me a bit of 2.5 Children actually, and they're a favorite! These guys are awesome and probably one of the best and biggest surprises I've had in awhile!! (Creep Records/ Suite 220/ 252 E. Market St./ West Chester PA 19381)

The Boredom and the Bullshit compilation 7" This comes in a great package of a paper bag with rubber stamped "consumebeey" barcodes and other designs. It's a State of Fifth - fast a goofy high voice th a fast song that is n It's got a chugga ch energy punk!, Kitch is short and angr native to What" is or Marker do to - but it a full recording sou another favorite so compilation - this c bands and the plans so many bands (th awesome selection great deal well worl to Refusenik/ PO 2 through Vacuum in  Bouncing Souls afraid that I was los since they've been much, I was worrie Bouncing Souls sty been playing live th Chek Girl - which is and growing on me bounce along. REVIEWS

It totally rocks and has that powerful release. It's totally right on the track with everything they've done and I love it!!!! (Lookout Records)

Axhandle Punk Compilation CD A really good compilation with a whole slew of good bands (some of which I was actually surprised to see on a small label comp. like this). There is quite a range from the Blanks 77 to White Trash Debutantes, also includes one song each from Heckel, Trunk, Litterbox, Squat, The Bar Feeders, Hickey, Fuknut, McCracks, Cash Registers, The Dress, Uncle Skunk, Trick Baby and Plow United. Really good loud sound quality and it totally rocks with variety. A good listen for sure. ($10/Axhandle Records/1827 McAllister St/SF CA 94115)

Baby Herg Seal 7" Really slow emo instrumentation music. 2 songs which I think are pretty boring because it just doesn't go anywhere. It's peaceful background music though. ($3ppd/Chainsaw Safety Records/85-16 88th Ave/Woodhaven NY 11421)

Backstage comp. tape This is a pretty good compilation, the only problem is that the bands that I like most are ones that I'm already familiar with - MDM and Unhinged. The other bands (mostly from France) are Oscar Nip, Circular Rubbing Motion (USA), Gutteranipes, Freeze Kids, Noymen's, Fly's Fuckers and Crux (USA). (Yann Verdalle/2 Pes Haunts de Beghac/33750 Beghac et Callau/France)

Bad Religion - Live At Phillipshalle, Dusseldorf Germany tape I like Bad Religion. Good catchy likable tunes. This is a good live tape from '92 with good sound quality and all of the "hits" and songs that you would expect to be on it. ($10ppd/PO Box 16184/Newport Beach CA 92659)

Blindspot Mailorder Distro compilation CD I guess this is one of those samplers to give you an idea of what all of these bands that are on No Idea and Toybox sound like with sample tracks from various records. It's a good mix up of some melodic emos stuff, ska punk and crunchy metal. My favorites are AAA, Ascension, Assuck, Integrity and Less Than Jaks. There's 33 bands in all - including Clairmel, Floodgate, Gus, Hot Water Music, Radon, Venbuiderass, Vent, Spoke, Sparkmarker and more. It's a good way of hearing loads of bands to see what you like and it's an excellent deal at only $3!! ($3ppd/Blindspot Mailorder/PO Box 14636/Gainesville FL 32604-4636)

Beyond Description - Fine Day Nostalgia 7" Fast and heavy grinding speeded up thrash, with a Swedish hc crossed with Jap-core kinda crunch, and it's from Japan. I like it. It's heavy and powerful with a metal crunching edge and it's got a grr-granimal craziness to it that is good!! ($6ppd/Forest Records/co Hideyuki Okahara/Ceramica 2 #301, 1-37 Minami-cho/2-chome, Kokubunji-shi, Tokyo/185 Japan)

Bikini Kill - Reject All American CD In the past I really haven't paid all that much

attention to the hype of them, though essentially I've always felt that I should really like Bikini Kill a lot. I think that finally this release may prove that to me - cause this is excellent! Kathleen's voice is awesome and she belts out these songs with such force that it gives me goose bumps. The power of her voice kinda reminds me of Poly Styrene from X Ray Spex which is an all time favorite of mine. It may sound silly, but I'm really glad that I like this as much as I do - and like it I do!! Fuck yeah!! (Kill Rock Stars/120 NE State #418/Olympia WA 98501)

Blanks 77 - On Speed 5" All along I thought this was a CD, until I tried to play it and realized it was a vinyl 5", which my turntable won't play. 2 songs - Up All Night and Max Alert. (Headache Records/PO Box 204/Midland Park NJ 07432)

Bloodlet - Eclectic CD When I first got this I was expecting some sort of macho HC thing and when some friends of mine tried to convince me to go see them, I felt pretty much the same thing with disinterest. Boy, how wrong could I be! I absolutely love this band to the point of being a newfound favorite and I'm glad they dragged me to see them or I probably wouldn't have ever known it! It's heavy to the point of evil with raw vocals all tuned way down to a hard rockin head nod with loads of big heavy drums and overall metal crunch that is absolutely delightful to me!! Big fuck yeah!! (Victory Records)

Bob Of Tribes - Does Anyone Have A Gun? 7" This has loads of energy and a catchy galloping drum beat and some sing-songy vocals. It sounds real good and has some interesting bits in it, but just doesn't make that much of a lasting impression on me. Though the last song is real catchy. (Sensual Underground Ministries/1430 S. Quincy Ave./Tulsa OK 74120-5826)

The Boils - Hearts of the Oppressed 7" I love these guys and it's so awesome cause I had this idea in my head that they sounded totally different and now I feel kinda stupid - cause I really like them a lot, so I was missing out!! They've got a really good sound that has the incredible power of voices singing together (that may sound cheesy, but there's something really incredible about a few voices that really sing well together) overtop of some catchy punk music that has a whole bunch of different layers and angles happening, all of which gets inside me and takes me along with it! And good thoughtful lyrics too! It reminds me a bit of 2.5 Children actually, and they're a favorite! These guys are awesome and probably one of the best and biggest surprises I've had in awhile!! (Creep Records/Suite 220/252 E. Market St./West Chester PA 19381)

The Boredom and the Bulshit compilation 7" This comes in a great package of a paper bag with rubber stamped "consume/bbey" barcodes and other designs. It's a compilation of hardcore bands from the U.K. featuring: State of Filth - fast and thrashy, Headache - twirpy guitar free jazz style with a goofy high voice that is countered by a deep one: odd, Voorhees rip through a fast song that is raw, one of my favorite songs comes from Stalingrad - it's got a chugga chugga metal guitar heavy sound, Nerves - explosive high energy punk, Kilchener is one that I always keep an eye open for - their song is short and angry, One by One are always a favorite and this song "Alternative to What" is one of the best!, PigPile have a low-key recording sound, Marker do to - but it's even rawer with emo-like breaks, Mantat break in with a full recording sound and metal guitar heavy song w/a bit of jazzy bass and another favorite song! And of course, like any self-respecting decent compilation - this comes with a great 16 page booklet to tell you about the bands and the plans and intention of this compilation. The fact that they got so many bands (that is 10 in all) onto this 7" is pretty amazing and it's an awesome selection that includes some of my favorites and so of course a great deal well worth getting your paws on!!! ($3 surface/$4 Eur/$5 airmail to Refusenik/POB 2018 Hove/East Sussex/BN3 3HS/England. Or available through Vaccum in the U.S.A.)

Bouncing Souls - Maniacal Laughter CD I love these guys! I was sorta afraid that I was losing touch with these guys and well, in the physical I am since they've been on tour for a solid year, but after not liking the last 7" so much, I was worried - but this is a good release of new stuff, good old Bouncing Souls style. It's got some of the newer/older songs that they've been playing live though last year - like Lamar Vanoy, Johnny X and Quick Chek Girl - which is cool and even the newer songs I haven't heard are catchy and growing on me. Shal pounds those drums so hard that I can't help but bounce along. How could I say a bad word about these lovable boys - except that they should fucking come home already!! (BYO)

Bristle - Won't Die For You CD Sometimes stuff like this is really hard for me to describe. It's really good. And if I saw them regularly or listened to them regularly, they'd probably be a favorite. But at the same time, the hooks don't sink in and really make me want to do that either. Basically this is good punk music that has a bit of a poppy and uppy beat as well as a rockin' feel - representative of punk coming out of Seattle these days. Sometimes poppy and rockin' aren't the best descriptions, but in this case - both of those are meant well. This is good stuff, but it's not gonna take me and run. (Ransom Note Recordings/PO Box 40164/BelleVue WA 98015)

The Bristles - Last Years Youth LP I can't believe how much this sounds like the Blanks. I guess they've always sorta been the Blanks Jr., but the vocal style is almost identical - that snotty nosed run together kinda thing. I want to like this - but it's boring! The music is really simple basic bop-te-dop stuff and the vocals are actually the best part - but it just doesn't have any life! Maybe this is one that would have been better as a 7". (Beer City Records)

Brother Interior - Blesphemy and Treason 7" This is the long-awaited new 7" from the awesome favorite of mine - Brother Interior. These guys rock! They play catchy straight-forward fast hardcore punk with a political as well as just plain intelligently thoughtful backing of lyrics. They've been a favorite to get me jumping-ly happy and I'm really excited about this new one that follows along to their last 7" just perfectly. It's got a real strong thumpy drum beat that gets my toes tapping and head bobbing and I think they're the perfect blend of peace-punk hardcore. A favorite which I highly recommend!!! ($3 US/$4 work/Sensual Underground Ministries/1430 S. Quincy Ave./Tulsa OK 74120-5826)

Candiria - Deep In The Mental 7" I wasn't expecting to really like this, in fact I wanted to give it to Tad to review, but rather than procrastinate - I gave it a listen and it's pretty fucking cool. With some jazz roots and technical instrumentation they play some unique death metal that really stands out! Without a doubt metal, with deep throat vocals and kick ass heavy double bass drums plus all sorts of wacky ditties happening which really make for an interesting sound. And talk about making use of the format - this is a long 7"! ($4/Devastating Sound Works/POB 20691/NY NY 10009)

Cathedral - The Carnival Bizarre CD I've always liked Cathedral and they're heavy Black Sabbath inspired dark rockin' metal, and I hadn't even realized that they put out like 2 other LP's on a major label. Now they're back on Earache with a new one which is a good laugh. I saw them recently too, and though there is still an appealing quality - the total rock out metal "All Right New York" kinda thing was just way too cheesy for me to take seriously or appreciate. The best part, or the worst, are the lyrics. It's so far out into disney fantasy land talking about devil's rocking hard and nights of the seagulls and freak out of the mellow man, and that is just a bare touch on how far tweaked they get. We used to get out cheesy deathmetal records late at night after our punk rock parties and I can picture those same drunks having a laugh with this. Sometimes I like things purely for the ridiculous extreme - and the more I read the lyrics - the more I like this for it's absurdity. (Earache)

Cattle Press 7" I love this band! Ultra fucking heavy shit! They're tuned way down to a bass heavy end with the kind of heaviness that totally mesmerizes me, but it still keeps rocking. The vocals are abrasive and raw screams and there's tons of noisy distortion over the whole recording. I just finally got to see them at C-Squat and even though I think the line up is different from this recording - they totally rocked my world!! They play in NYC a lot - so if you're around here - go see them! ($4/Devastating Soundworks/POB 20691/ NY NY 10009)

JON COUGAR CONCENTRATION CAMP

CavityDaisyCutter split 7" It's bad enough that this is a split (I'm just tired of split 7"s) but once again, it's a split 7" with no labeling as to which band is on which side. Both bands are down with the slow heavy groove and sampling overdubs. Neither one are particularly interesting this time around. One has more wawa groove, one has more feedback noise. Disappointing. ($3/Starcunch/PO Box 9152/ Miami FL 33124)

* Chees U.S.A. - CD compilation This is an excellent compilation with some old favorites as well as a chance for me to be pleasantly introduced to some new ones. I'm pretty sure that all of these bands are from Southern California. I suppose the only flaw to this comp. is that there is no band info or contacts included and that is a really important part of these projects. However we've got a few tracks each from Litmus Green and Naked Aggression, both of which are old favorites. And then ADZ - straightforward hc punk with a thumpy beat, I like UXA a lot they've got a female singer and rock like early 80s punk - they've got a song called "Tree Punks" (!) and play some bagpipes, Lunker are pretty rockin', Organized Crime have a sing-a-long upbeat tempo, Armistice are probably my surprise favorite - with a female singer and dual vocals, a hard edge tinged with a bit of metal crunching peace punk!, I like Raunch who have a fitting name with a heavy grungy dual vocaled crusty powerful sound which, Divisia are heavy with a doomie metal feel and a female singer who can really sing - reminds me a bit of APPLE from NY. I'm glad to hear so many females represented in this comp. - it's sorta rare and I always really appreciate it. This is good stuff! Armistice, Divisia, and Raunch are my new favorites and this whole CD is full of really good straight up California punk!! (St. Thomas Records/PO Box 7427/ Orange CA 92613) Christdriver - Your Vision Leaves Me Blind 7" One the first few listens I kinda felt like there was something missing compared to some of the other recordings that I've heard from Christdriver.

Besides the fact that there's just two songs and they are relatively repetitive - "Your Vision Leaves Me Blind" rocks - but what I've just realized is that it rocks, on the wrong speed. Shit!! One 45 it's awesome with a heavy and yet rockin' beat with an industrial feel and vocals that sound like they're accentuated by a female voice. But fuck, that is the wrong speeded-ness of it - cause it's actually a slow droner, which is why those initial times it didn't make the impact I expected. The flipside, on the right speed sounds right. Heavy, with a rockin' beat and those Erik Subvert vocals, and of course of metal guitar. I like this band - I'm still not sure that this is the best example of what they've done - but play with the speeds and you get that much more possibilities. ($3/Profane Existence/POB 8522/ Mpls. MN 55408)

Coal Hanger Kids 7" This is tard core & I guess I like tard core - cause this rocks!! They've got a cool female singer and a good stand-out original sound. It rocks, but it doesn't fit into a little category, which is refreshing right now! Good strong drum beats, catchy bits, quirky bits on the guitar, and good dual (mf) vocals. I like it!! ($4ppd/Coathanger Kids/3510 Oarish Ln./ Oxnard CA 93003)

* CoExist - lalalu mise on relation entre townplanner 7" I read a review for this in HeartattaCk that said this was heavy grindy stuff with a female singer and pleasant melodies and I thought it sounded pretty rad. So then when Will had these records I was really excited and he was so surprised that I had heard of them and gave me a copy of it. I totally love it!! They're from France and have this sound that reminds me of European crusty peace punk bands that I always love (Disaffect and One by One come to mind). It's got dual male and female vocals and a heavy thundering drum beat with a crunchy metal edge that is absolutely delightful with perfection to my ears!!! This is a band for me to be really excited about cause they rock my little world!!!! (Ape Records/ Kathleen & Gilles/ 80 Rue Des Chaises/ 45140 St. Jean De La Ruelle/ France)

The Connie Dugs - Missy and Johnny 7" Really fast, hyper-active, snotty nosed with nasally vocals and very upbeat poppy tunes - almost to the point feeling kinda silly - just cause it's so fast I'd almost think it's on the wrong speed, but it sounds good. (Harmless Records/ 1437 West Hood St/ Chicago IL 60660)

The Coolers 7" Hmm, well I think that I'd call this truly anarchistic punk. If I didn't know Newt, I might totally disregard this record. However, knowing that they live in Mississippi and take their roots in punk rock, I appreciate that they're keeping a D.L.Y punk attitude and do their own thing. Two songs here, one of which is way too funky groovin' (that wa wa 70s tv movie style of funky groove) but the other side is good and it comes with lots of stuff. Posters with lyrics (which are great) and stickers (which are funny). If you want something different and totally unpredictable - then try this. ($4ppd/ Chaos Or bust! POB 443/ Oxford MS 38655)

Cracked Cop Skulls - No Fucking Tears for the Pieces of Shit 7" This is an awesome band made up of members from an impressive list of old UK punk bands (Incl. Some Throat, Filthick and more). CCS like to change their name and have released some songs as the name Crapped Cops Pants as well as having some songs on the Endless Struggle comp. as Sore Throat. I can't get through this review without a mention of the very heavy Discharge influence, or as Todd said - it sounds like Disaster doing Discharge. They've got loads of short crunchy grinding bass heavy with distortion songs on this 7" and I they're one to open up your ears to for sure!! (Days Of Fury/POB 65/ Wallasey L45 3QE)

The Crumbs - Get All Tangled Up! 10"

I really like the 10" format, I guess cause it's different and gets your attention. This is rockin' melody. With a total old style clean guitar rockin' sound complete with back up woahh vocals and harmony. ($7ppd/ Far Out Records/ PO Box 14361/ Fort Lauderdale FL 33302)

* Dad, I Can't Breathe - Creep Records Compilation LP Proving that West Chester is the rock city the Creepy guys have brought together all of the area bands for a rockin' compilation. I'm really excited about this cause I didn't expect to like all of these bands as much as I do, that being cause some of it is a long the melodic/poppy lines of punk - however I think that this stuff all totally rocks and makes for a really really good compilation. My favorite is the 2.5 Children "Land of the Free" song - which is perhaps my favorite song of all from them, The Abreacts, and The Boils are totally awesome as well. Also got a song each from Nol Your Friends, Stressboy, Plow United, Reject, True Zero, Cabin Boy, The Pins, Wally, Jake & The Stiffs, Third Year Freshman, Super Hi-5, Peepshow, Spongogod and Boy Sets Fire. I have to recommend this one - enter the rock city of Pennsylvania!! (Creep Records/ Suite 220/ 252 East Market St/ West Chester PA 19381)

* Damad - tape Fucking awesome stuff!! Damn - I had no idea they had gotten to be so totally brutal and gnarly heavy and evil!! And Victoria, the singer - kicks ass!! She's got such a deep powerful voice that most of the time you'd not even guess it was a woman, but then there are the break-up parts where she does different sorts of singing and that is what totally ices the cake! Musically akin to old Neurosis - with bass-heavy madness and an awesome chugging powerful and complex sound with kick ass drums too!! Fuck yeah!! ($4/ 121 East 63rd Street/ Savannah GA 31405)

Dead Silence - Hell, How Could We Make Any More Money Than This? 7" Dead Silence are another of my all time favorite bands. And though I don't think anything tops "Mad Scientists Ball" of how ever many years ago - they are continuing to challenge the status quo and in this case - especially take a big fat jab at some of those so-called punk bands that have made the break for the big time. That in and of itself is delightful. The booklet that comes with this includes not only the lyrics but additional thoughts on the subjects (and more). Musically I'm not carried away by this like I want to be, and while it is somewhat down-beat and low key it does still have an unmistakable Dead Silence sound mostly in the vocals that is always good. ($3/$5/Profane Existence/PO Box 8722/ Mpls MN 55408)

* Detestation - Unheard Cries tape Detestation was one of the only bands that I got to see on my cross-country journey and also one that totally hit right at the heart! Sacrilege meets Anti-Cimex is a good description of where they are coming from. Sairia is mad on the mic though this recording doesn't have as much growling power as expected. It's totally rad to hear a woman's voice fronting this style of fast and heavy Swedish hardcore! Unfortunately for everyone, news is that they've already called it quits, which is a real disappointment. This kicks ass! So don't wait, go ahead and get yourself a copy of this tap!! and then keep your ears open cause I'm sure a new band will come, at least from Kelly and Saira! ($3/1951 W. Burnside #1654/ Portland OR 97209)

 Devold of Faith/Seized split 7" Sometimes it's kinda funny to go back and write a review for something you've been listening to for awhile. Devold of Faith continue to be one of the best bands in hardcore these days! They're just awesome! Fast and powerful with an intensity reminiscent of some real old school hardcore bands but so much of their own sound that they stand out real good in the crowd! I really like these guys!! When I first heard Seized and found out that they had 3 bass players my day was made!! They've got one song here of needless to say ultra bass heavy (they didn't even bother with a guitar!) doomie stuff that sticks to the slow side with the raw gruff vocals. One of the best split records I've heard lately!! (Gloom Records/ 32 15th St/ Watervliet NY 12189)

Disrupt Youth - 7" On the record it says 45rpm - so I played it on 45 and it totally rips with speed, but the vocals are a bit funny. So I tried out 33 and I'm sure that is where it's supposed to be, much slower mid-paced rocking punk - but nothing special. They're from Australia. It's heavy and it's rockin' - Todd likes it! (Beer City Records)

Dishwasher - Music to Wash Dishes By vol. 1 This is cool - it's a Dishwasher zine record with 4 bands - The Queens, Ten-Four, The H-Fives and Scared of Chaka. I don't really dig the bands at all - but they're all singing about washing dishes and there's these great sound bites in between the songs that sound like they're from a 50's operational film about washing dishes. Pete is awesome and so is his Dishwashing zine and so I think this record comp. and the accompanying booklet which is like a mini Dishwasher zine is awesome! (Seven-O-Two Records/POB 204/Reno NV 89504)

Divisie - What's Left Of Us CD I first heard this So. Cal. female vocaled punk band on the Chaos USA compilation, and so to get a full length release right away is a big treat cause I liked 'em a lot!! This is a bunch of very catchy songs that keeps growing on me and demanding that I listen again and again. It's not as metal as I thought when I first heard them, but it does have a hard rockin' beat and kinda reminds me of some of those rockin' girl bands like (Red Aunts and L7). She has a strong voice and sings powerfully in a bunch of different styles! An awesome band!! (split label release: Pessimiser/POB 4452/Inglewood CA 90309 and theologian/200 Pier Ave. #2/ Hermosa Beach, CA 90254)

The Dread/Godsquad split 7" Right now I'm irritated by the split 7" format - just cause it goes too fast for each band. This is a good combination though - both bands are catchy, a bit rockin with a bit of melody or catchiness as well as some energy and a good beat. Both bands are also full of good folks. ($3/Six Weeks Records/PO Box 6573/Concord CA 94524)

Drop Forge - The Largest Tool Known To Man... 7" Working class rock n' roll tunes about beer and thieves. (Beer City Records)

Dutchland Diesel 7" While I generally just don't go for the ultra melodic harmony stuff - perhaps it's all about when and how you listen to it. Then again, there are also always those that stand out above the rest. That is Dutchland Diesel. It's melodic with an emotional feeling and generally pretty up-liftingly light, though it does still have energy - and it's definitely one of the better and/or more interesting of the sorts that I've heard and this could really grow on me if I listen to it in the right mood enough. (Creep Records/Suite 220/252 E. Market St./West Chester PA 19381)

 Ebola - Incubation LP I get so much inspiration and rejuvenation not only from hearing bands like Ebola, but also from just knowing that they exist - and that they're are people and bands in the hardcore/punk scene that are still dedicated to the THOUGHTS and IDEAS!! I got a tape of the recording of this LP this winter and it became an instant favorite to be listened to regularly and raved about to everyone I know. And now that the actual vinyl is out and the lyric booklet is accompanying the music it really leaves me totally speechless! But let me give you an idea of where they're coming from: First of all this is some members from One By One, and they maintain some of the sound and style - specifically Karlin's vocals, but they've also got a heavier, brutal and more powerful intensity that will knock you on the ground. I've been comparing them to ABC Diablo. It's absolutely magnificent and beautiful! The MF dual vocals and the all out power and complexity of the music combined with incredible words (along with explanations and more in the book) make for an absolutely mandatory recommendation and favorite from me!! ($10 Eur/$12 world/Flat Earth/Bradford Music/PO Box 169/Bradford BD7 1YS UK. Distributed through Active/BM London/WC1N/London UK. And Profane Existence and Tribal War in the USA)

Floor/Tired From Now On split 7" Split 7"s really suck for reviewing. Especially when the vinyl isn't labeled and you just don't know which band is which. Why do they do this? One is really abrasive and discordant with that angst and pain kinda feeling that grunges and trudges along. And the other one goes for that ultra fucking heavy, tuned way down Black Sabbath style bass heavy sound with vocals that seem to be through a megaphone. I like this stuff. The slow heavy stuff gets a little boring when it doesn't rock, but this is pretty good. Now which one is which? (No Idea/PO Box 14636/Gainesville FL 32604-4636)

Flux of Disorder/Up Yours! split 7" I really like when a 7" has a nice looking graphic artistic cover. The Flux of Disorder artwork is awesome and so I was drawn to want to listen to this. Punk punky stuff on the thrashy side with lots of guitar distortion and a thumpy drum beat. It's pretty good, but I can see them getting even better! Up Yours! have a real thumpy fast pogo drum beat with dual vocals half of which remind me of Gorge and the Casualties. Wow!! both of these bands are really good and they're both from Colorado! Cool!! Punky (pictures too)!! (Hazy Morning Music/303 S. Broadway Suite B131/Denver CO 80209)

Freak Show - Fuckers Of Defeat ep Freak Show are from Spain and they're pretty cool. First of all, they've got a nice looking record sleeve and include their lyrics (which are excellent thoughtful ones) and while these things sound obvious enough - it's not always there, and I always do appreciate it. And musically it's good straight-forward hardcore ranging in speed and tempos. Including a Minor Threat cover. ($4 in Europe/$5 world/split release: Sour Grapes/Daniel Ferrero/POB 506/29640 Fuengirola/Spain. and Per Korn/Markus Haas/Bismarckstr. 55/28203 Bremen Germany)

FuckFace/Hickey split 7" FuckFace go totally fucking mad with high speed spastic thrashing hardcore. I can see the energy emanating through the vinyl. In comparison Hickey could be singing love songs. Okay, well not quite. They got one real poppy tune and then one that goes for that emo heaviness crossed with melodic pause. ($2/Matt FuckFace/POB 15295/SF CA 94115)

Fudge Daddy-Os/KittyBadass split 7" What names huh? If I didn't know these folks, I probably would just say ugh, and pass it along. But Spazz and Donn are good fellas and they have so much fun with their music that I gotta love 'em. So the Fudge Daddy-Os are high energy fun and some ultra melody. Kitty Badass have a silly name, and 3 gals who I think are probably from Bad Dreamhouse. This is pretty poppy and melodic though, and I really don't dig it. ($3 US/$5 world/Computer Crime Records/PO Box 1684/Norwalk CT 06852-1684)

Fun Girls - Dairy Of A Madwoman 7" What a goofy thing this is. The cover of the 7" is a full color spoof on Ozzy with a staged setup. Apparently well known for their cross dressing and antics - the fun is being had here. Musically this is heavy on the snotty nasal vocals with lots of energy. The little booklet that comes with this has them all dresses up and paying homage to Ozzy in lighthearted fun. ($3ppd/House Of Pain/POB 120861/Nashville TN 37212)

* Glory Stompers - Abandoned Youth LP Oh these guys were good! Good old styled skin of pogo punk with dual female and male vocals. I love the ones with Loma singing cause she's got such a good powerful voice and it always gives me the goosebumps - cause she can really sing!! They mix all of it up well with a variety of vocals as well as tempo and speed - with some of it being straight-up bouncy pogo stuff and some of it having more of a Disorder styled thrashing beat to it. And the last 3 newer songs they switch around the instruments and have a different style with a slower punchy pogo beat and more sing-a-long style of stuff. Classic good stuff!! ($8ppd/Profane Existence/PO Box 8722/Minneapolis MN 55408)

Goal Boy - Struggle For Power 7" This one's pretty good. It's got a bit of an emo feel to it, sorta on the melodic side and yet it's got a pretty raw edged voice on most of it which makes for a combination that I like. ($3ppdUS/$4 C-M/$5world/Dead Beat Records/POB 283/LA, CA 90078)

Guttermouth - Teri Yekimoto CD Upbeat pop-punk that still reminds me so much of NOFX. Snotty vocals and lots of energy. Considering that I don't care for this kinda stuff, I think this is actually pretty good. I don't like some of the more melodic bits - but the high energy poppy snotty stuff is just what it is and it's pretty good. (Nitro Records)

H100 - Texas Death Match ep Yep, yep - the talk and hype on this band is well deserved. Good, straight-forward heavy hardcore with aggressive vocals. (Havoc Records/POB 8585/Mpls MN 55408)

Hatebreed/Neglect split 7" Hatebreed have fast become a favorite of mine this month. I first heard them when they played with Voorhees and I stood behind the drummer and said "fuck yeah!!" (I love drums!!) They play an ultra heavy crunching metal style of hardcore that has the hard mosh bits in it and some kick ass drums. But they stand out above all the loads of boring mosh metal HC bands with a really great sound and I love it!! Neglect are also really good, as I realized when I first heard their last 7". They play with a similar style and go for the ultimate in heavy!! I like this heavy hardcore shit!! And this is another one I've been playing for everyone who comes into the house! (Stillborn Records/PO Box 3019/New Haven CT 06515)

Hepcat - Scientific CD This is a nice refreshing bit of a surprise. Old-school roots reggae and ska combining traditional elements and influences to come up with a new old sounding release. Over an hours worth of music that will soothe your soul. I really enjoy this style of music, so this is a nice treat for me! Horns, keyboards, sweet voices and a good swinging groove. Not what you'd expect from BYO - but it's a good one! (BYO)

* Hiatus - 12" Brand new Hiatus stuff on a 12" 45 speed with a really nice cover and insert - hand stamped and silkscreened on brown cardstock. Hiatus are rockin on with some speeded up fast tunes, with much more of a metal edge and Wills screams his guts out. I love these guys! ($7ppd/Skuld Releases and Profane Existence/PO Box 8522/Minneapolis MN 55408)

I Can't Do Anything with 50¢ compilation 7" Connecticut and Computer Crime records kick out some songs from Kitty Bad Ass (poppy with female vocals), Blanket Of Ash (clean rockin' guitar melody), Broken (my favorite with Jim Martin's classic vocals), Fudge Daddy-Os (a catchy tune with an open sounding guitar), Ugly Truth (contrary to the name also have a catchy

of the best uses of a CD possible - to take a bunch of old relatively unavailable releases and put them all on one disc. The "Onward Christian Soldiers" LP, "Not On Her Majesty's Service" cassette, "Brain Death" ep, "Used, Abused Unamused" ep, and "The Filth and the Fury" ep all crammed onto this one and if you're like me - it's gonna make you happy and blissfully punked out. Put this and the Antisystem complete CD in the player and you're good to go for a long long time!! Fuck yeah!! (Mortamate Records/PO Box 448/Eltham London SE9 England)

Java Christ - Song To Confuse Siam Dancers 7" Good upbeat ska punk with melodic sing-a-long vocals (some of which get to be a bit more melodic/harmonic than I find interesting) and a nice twisting rocking beat. I love the uplifting ska guitar. ($3/House of Pain/POB 159202/Nashville TN 37215) Knockabouts - On Suffering Remembered 7" Alabama hardcore complete with their own rendition of "Sweet Home Alabama". It's loud and raw with a noisy abrasive guitar sound. There is so much high-end in the recording that I find it a bit irritating. (Prank Records/POB 410892/SF CA 94141-0892)

Kurbits IR - Ingot Liv 7" Ultra fast thrashy music with blast beating drums - all about speed. It is broken up by a little touch of slow heaviness - but mostly this just blasts away with really fast thrashing. ($6/Really Fast/Box 6170/S-10233 Stockholm Sweden)

Less Than Jake - "Peccore" 16 excellent short but sweet minutes of high energy ska punk complete with horns and all. I love it! I guess that this is a different edition with a xerox copied cover - but I quite like it - cause it's got some of Stephane's artwork on the cover and it just attracts me to it so much more than those full color plastic covered disc cases. Good music - loads of fun to listen to and twist and dance for! (Less Than Jake/PO Box 12081/Gainesville FL 32604)

Lil Big Head CD This is probably one of the more original and different bands that I have received and reviewed. I was initially drawn into the CD by heavy tom tribal kinda drumming and then the woman's voice is awesome! It really defies any kind of categorizing or comparisons. While it could blend into a radio play perhaps mainstream genre (at times) it more than likely will not, because it's actually really good. Her voice rocks and she does so much with it which is something that I always appreciate and especially enjoy with women's vocals. Musically diverse as well, and all interesting. Totally self done DIY release as well! (PO Box 23683/Baltimore MD 21203)

Litmus Green - Do You Fear Something? CD I liked this new disc so much that it instantly went into my personal pile of stuff, rather than the review pile - so I didn't review it, nor did I carry it with me as I moved from the mountains of Virginia back to NYC - so I don't have it in front of my ears to properly review and describe - but I can say that Litmus Green have become a favorite and a band that I highly recommend to everyone to hear! Politically charged punk - very catchy and lovable for me! It's self-released and limited to just 500. ($5ppd worldwide/Litmus Green/PO Box 5311/Glendale CA 91221-5311)

Living In Fear - A Record To Benefit Children Victims of Domestic Violence (compilation CD) A good benefit with a lot of noteworthy good bands, not all of them are my favorites or cup of tea - but it's a good collection none the less! Christ On Parade, Naked Aggression, Armed & Hammered, The Diesel Queens, New Bomb Turks, Bristle, 88 Fingers Louie, The Queens, Piss Drunks, Wretched Ones, Cowboy Killers, Schleprock, Capitalist Casualties, Oppressed Logic, The Freeze, Spent Idols, Bristle, Hellbillys, the Brainnick and Rhythm Collision. (Ransom Note Recordings/PO Box 40164/Bellevue WA 98015)

 Logical Nonsense - Soul Pollution CD A big fat fuck yeah to these guys!! They manage to play some really heavy shit that seems to have 6 different layers to it. Not in a spastic or out of control kinda way - but with each instrument playing a different rhythm or melody that all weaves together for a really intricate and complex thing that just rocks and it totally fucking kicks ass! I'm so in love with this band cause they manage to wrap up all these elements together that I love - heavy drums beats, loads of bass, a metallic crunch, a galloping traveling a long fast speeded up heavy mesmerizing pace with an evensness that makes me giddy. It's got the feel of some of my favorite East Bay bands - perhaps cause they've got the help of Noah on the recording and a lot of Neurosis influence. A favorite for sure!! I mean really, I highly recommend this band so give them a listen and you won't be sorry!! I think a tour is coming this summer so look out for that too. ($10/Tee Pee Records/111 E. 14th Street/Suite 223/NY NY 10003)

As which. Why do they do this? One is really abrasive and discordant with that angst and pain kinda feeling that grunges and nudges along. And the other one goes for that ultra fucking heavy, tuned way down Black Sabbath style bass heavy sound with vocals that seem to be through a megaphone. I like this stuff. The slow heavy stuff gets a little boring when it doesn't rock, but this is pretty good. Now which one is which? (No Idea/PO Box 14636 Gainesville FL 32604-4636)

Flux of Disorder / Up Yours! split 7" I really like when a 7" has a nice looking graphic artistic cover. The Flux of Disorder artwork is awesome and so was drawn to want to listen to this. Punky punky stuff on the thrashy side with lots of guitar distortion and a thumpy drum beat. It's pretty good, but I can see them getting even better! Up Yours! have a real thumpy fast pogo drum beat with dual vocals half of which remind me of Gorge and the Casualties. Wow! both of these bands are really good and they're both from Colorado! Cool! Punky (pictures too)! (Hazy Morning Music/ 303 S Broadway Suite B131/ Denver CO 80209)

Freak Show - Fuckers Of Defeat ep Freak Show are from Spain and they're pretty cool. First of all, they've got a nice looking record sleeve and include their lyrics (which are excellent thoughtful ones) and while these things sound obvious enough - it's not always there, and I always do appreciate it. And musically it's good straight-forward hardcore ranging in speed and tempos. Including a Minor Threat cover. ($4 in Europe/ $5 world/ split Kurble In! - Ingeel Liv 7" Ultra fast thrashy music with blast beating drums — all about speed. It is broken up by a little touch of slow heaviness - but mostly this just blasts away with really fast thrash! ($6/Really Fast/Box 6170/ S-10233 Stockholm Sweden)

Man Dingo - Bad Touch Becca 10" Ultra melodic. (Dr Strange Records)

Maniac Miracles - New Direction 7" I like bands with female singers, especially those that have powerful voices and can really sing. The music is mid-paced, old UK punk styled with a strong drum beat, and her voice rises over all of it. Even though they sound rather English - they're from Finland. ($6/Ramsaykuja 1 D 26/ 02780 Espoo/ Finland/ Europe)

Men's Recovery Project - Normal Man 7" Now this is excellent!! I think it has an original sound, though the overall attitude with lyrics and music reminds me a bit of Reagan Youth. With a big fuck you to America and the man - they blast out 12 fast short and sweet ones that all hit home. I recommend it!! (Gravity Records/PO Box 81332/ San Diego CA 92238)

Messed Up - Total Control 12" Total Jap-core, from Japan of course. I had to think about whether this should be on 33 and real slow - but 45 is the right speed and then it rips. Fast, manic and intense thrash. Not cover and insert - hand stamped and silkscreened on brown cardstock. Hiatus are rockin on with some speeded up fast tunes, with much more of a metal edge and Wilks screams his guts out. I love these guys! ($7ppd/ Skuld Releases and Profane Existence/ PO Box 8522/ Minneapolis MN 55408)

I Can't Do Anything with 50¢ compilation 7" Connecticut and Computer Crime records kick out some songs from Kitty Bad Ass (poppy with female vocals), Blanket Of Ash (clean rockin' guitar melody), Broken (my favorite with Jim Martin's classic vocals!), Fudge Daddy-Os (a catchy tune with an open sounding guitar), Ugly Truth (contrary to the name also have a catchy tune with a new wave feel on the vocals). * Icons Of Filth - Not On Her Majesty's Service 7" One of my favorite bands of all times!! This is an old one, an old UK anarcho-peace punk band from back in another day. And god damn is it good!! Heavy powerful punk fucking rock! This is a bootleg, I'm not sure if it originally appeared in 7" format, or if it was only released on tape - but here it is and damn is it good. If you love em- you know, if you've never heard them - here is your chance - trust me you don't want to miss out on these guys! Drum heavy, thumpy pogo punk with the thoughts and words behind them! Oh delight! (Available through: Tribal War Records/ PO Box 20712/ Tompkins Sq. Stn./ NY NY 10009 or Profane Existence/ POB 8522/ Minneapolis MN 55408)
* Icons Of Filth - The Mortarhate Projects CD As I just said in the above review - Icons of Filth are one of my all time favorites! This CD release is one crazy thrash though. Just ripping speed. The record even cuts off in the middle of a song, adding to the manic-ness of it! (HG Fac/401 Hongo-W/2-36-2 Yayo!-Cho/ Nakano Tokyo/ 164 Japan)

Mission To Murder/Brickwall United split 7" I like Mission To Murder. They've got just 2 short songs on the rockin' catchy high energy side. This is my favorite of the 2 and goes by too fast. Brickwall United are an anti-racist working class oriented skin band with an upbeat tempo and punchy beat. A good split from these Atlanta bands. (Reactionary Records/POB 5468/Atlanta GA 30307)

Napalm Death - Diatribes CD When I first gave the promo tape of this a listen I was totally blown away and surprised - cause it wasn't at all what I expected from Napalm Death (fast thrash) but was really good heavy rocking metal heaviness, and I loved it! It wasn't until about the 5th song before there was any bit of thrashing speed and actually most of it is full of some awesome catchy rocking complex metalness which is really fucking rad. The 2nd song is still probably my favorite. I got a bit confused by the 2nd song cause the promo was actually only 2 songs from Diatribes and some other stuff which is now released and entitled "Greed Killing". Though "Diatribes" is the full length CD and I still love it, I think "Greed Killing" hit me with more impact. None the less, I'm totally siked after all of these years to like Napalm Death as much as I like this! (Earache)

No Sanctuary - K7 Radio Broadcast tape #1 I'm usually pretty wary of listening to radio show tapes, I guess cause I often find them boring - but not this one!! Anyone remember the zine out of Switzerland called No Sanctuary? Well Chris from Ruptured Ambitions has picked up doing the zine but rather than a paper format it's now a radio show, but it still contains the attitude of total D.I.Y no compromising punk rock. It's neat to finally hear the voice of someone you've been in contact with for a long time, and quite honestly his voice sounds good on the tape. Mostly this is music by 4 Past Midnight, The Bus Station Loonies, Coltus, Total Control, Disorder, Naked Aggression, Fleas and Lice, Combat Shock, The Absolute Zeros and a few more plus an interview with Rat from the Varukers. I forget how much copies of this are - so send $5 and I think that should cover it. (Ruptured Ambitions/Old Forge Cottage/Rushford/Lamerton, Tavistock/Devon PL19 8RY/England)

Oppressed Logic - P.C. Full Of Shit 7" What the fuck is with all of these dumb bands talking about getting head and fucking girls up the ass?? The lyrics go something like this: "Little girls, little girls in my fucking bed, little fucking hooker, give me some head, found a little slut, shoved it up her butt, next thing you know my life is in a rut". And what the fuck is with calling pop punk "gay"? I don't like pop-punk either - but gay? I thought we'd gotten past that stage. But then again this is PC backlash right? Well it's fucked up and just pissed me off! (Beer City Records)

The Padded Cell - I Don't Need No Arms 7" Pretty good catchy rockin' stuff. Kinda reminds me of some of the more mid-paced old UK Oi! stuff. They're not from England, but it almost sounds as if they could be. It's got that rockin' guitar and a good upbeat pogo kinda energy and the vocals stand out a lot. ($3ppd/Dead Beat Records/PO Box 283/LA CA 90078)

Pitch Shifter - Infotainment? Another old band that I used to love and lost track of, back with a new release. These guys cross all sorts of boundaries into the industrial heavy sampled somewhat techno meets metal bass heavy insanity. (Earache)

Pisspoor - tape Raw fast grating thrash with a female singer. Very abrasive! ($32/6501-b Chesterfield Ave./Austin TX 78752)

Plow United - LP From West Chester Rock City comes Plow, oops, I mean Plow United. Though for the most part this is pretty poppy and somewhat melodic which ordinarily isn't all that interesting - I really do like these guys. This isn't a record to grab me from the first listen, but I think it'll grow on me. They've got a 7" with a song called "West Chester Rock City" and I'm telling you it's gonna start a hyped up movement!! (Creep Records/Suite 220/252 E. Market St./West Chester PA 19381)

Plow United - new CD I'm not sure what this is titled, cause I just got the disc - but gee, it sure is good!! In fact - it's the best yet from these guys and it totally blows me away as being one of the best things I've heard!! Full energy with wacky craziness and super catchy tunes (and things for a real long time. Finally this new record falls into my lap and I'm well impressed, mostly by what they have to say. Musically it's falls into the genre of poppy melody - not my thing. However, I totally acknowledge the fact that loads of people dig this style and the fact that Propagandhi have included loads of information along the lines of gay-positive, anti-fascist, pro-feminist, animal-friendly thoughts, complete with summaries of ideals and beliefs and contacts for further reading, action and involvement - this is sort of like a starting point for a whole (perhaps) new generation of kids to discover thoughtful punk rock the way Crass introduced things however many years ago. It's good to see this sort of information being made available along with a poppier kind of punk music, rather than the expected grinding anarcho-peace punk style that I've gotten so used to. I'd highly recommend it to anyone liking poppy melodic punk and wanting/reading a bit of enlightenment! (Fat Wreck Chords)

Punkure 7" Woowie! This one makes me toes tingle! It's about the best new record I've heard yet - which is always a delightful treat! Heavy deep vocaled straight forward crunchy punk fucking rock! I love it! Good words, lyrics and information as well as a good attitude accompany this record - making it rule all around in my book!! ($3ppd/Eugene Records/POB 2183/Meriden CT 06450)

Real Bestards - All That Was Left After 7"

When I read the lyrics about "trailer park trash - white trash scums" I kinda thought it was harsh - but then the next song has lyrics "Slip slide - in her little hole, take her fucking tract, shit dip her discomfort gets me off, vice grip it tightens when she coughs, addiction my friends all say I'm mad, friction no lube when she's been bad" - What the fuck? I think rude and I'm completely NOT interested at all. The ripping fast hardcore doesn't matter, cause I think the lyrics are Fucked! (Beer City Records)

Remission - Human Compassion tape

Good stuff! Grinding mayhem thrashy punk with raw and abrasive dual vocals and a good punchy pogo beat. I like it! This tape is real short, but they've also got a 7" "Fetus The Code" on Power Ground Records and an LP "Our Days Our Numbered" coming out on Beer City Records. Keep your ears and eyes open for Remission. They will be playing Sat. June 15th at ABC NO RIO. (Power Ground Records/1309 S. 21st St./Minnetonka WI 54220)

Scatha - Respect Protect Reconnect LP I have awaited this record like none before. I have heard about this band, made up of members of Sedition and Disaffect (2 of my favorites) and just waited and waited to hear them and finally my first listen is a full LP. This is a record that brought me home from the post office clutching it with glee and running straight for the turntable, and it was worth the wait cause it's all that I expect it could and would be. Sometimes when I like something so much the words to actually describe it totally fail me as will probably be the case here because this just speaks to me through my blood, pours and mind all at once! First off all it's the singer from Sedition, so it's got the same style of deep throated vocals. Musically it's heavy with tons of pounding throbbing and thundering drums and metallic guitars - but these words don't in any way get across the power and magnificence of the blending of all of these things together which near perfection for me! What takes all of this so many steps further is the words and lyrics which are about reconnecting to the earth and the earth's spirit, are just a fucking punk, we don't even care what you think" etc... It's sorta hard for me to be really interested or care, but musically it's pretty good fast hardcore. (Beer City Records)

Snapcase - Steps CD I like this heavy crunching mosh-metal hardcore. It's got really punchy beats, accentuated by the tight stops and starts. I like it, but 4 songs on a CD would be better off on a 7" I think. (Victory)

Snap Krackie Drop/Those Meddling Kids split 7" I wouldn't have known this if I hadn't read it on the accompanying paper, but Snap Krackie Drop do a cover of Phil Collins "I Don't Care Anymore" - making it a whole new song of rough and raunchy rockin' roll. Those Meddling Kids do a cover of the Cars "Just What I Needed" which does actually sound like the song with a much deeper voice. Why bother?? ($3ppd/Social Retardance/PO Box 25666/Tempe AZ 85285-5666)

Snuff - Demmamussabebonk LP I've known lots of old English punks who love this band, but just why that is I'm not sure. Whatever it's been in the past, as far as I can see this is just melodic poppy punk. Occasionally it does break into a harder edge riff, but mostly just melodic and I don't like it. (Fat Wreck Chords)

Social Unrest - New Lows CD Social Unrest are an all time favorite band

of mine, so on one hand to see they've got a new release is exciting, but on the other hand after so many years of nothing - I also am sort of skeptical. The outcome of how I feel about this matches that too - a few songs have the same punch and impact that the old stuff did and a few of them are down right terrible love song sorta things. They're still an old favorite, but I'm kinda disappointed by this cause I don't feel blown away into euphoria like I did 10 years ago. But at least a handful of these songs will definitely grow on me. (New Red Archives/POB 210501/San Francisco CA 94121)

Spazz/Toast split 7" I remember that Toast really grabbed my attention once before - and they do it once again ripping out some raw intensity with thrashing fast hardcore with raw screamed vocals that make it sound like an awesome band to see. The songs overlap and blend together on the record really well! I like Spazz too. They explode all over the walls with really fast manic blast beat mayhem thrash, but do it in a way that doesn't lose all control and they mix in some slow heavy bits too to keep me liking it all quite a bit. Good split!! (HG Fact)

Speed Freaks - A Compilation 7" Double 7" compilations are cool for the funniness of them, but they suck for reviewing and for regular listen as well. This double 3 sided 7" is a special edition, and normally it's just one 7" (a bit confusing eh?). So the new famed Charles Bronson has several tracks will float your boat more than mine. And if you order 2 regular 7"s then you get a copy of this 3 sided 2 x 7". ($3/Knot Music/POB 501/South Haven MI 49090-0501)

Spinewrench/Del Master split 7" I'm totally impressed that Spinewrench is still essentially 2 dudes and a drum machine with loads of samples. They've still got an unmistakable sound that just screams "Spinewrench" to me and I like it. On first listen I thought it was kinda boring on second listen I thought it was really good. Compared to the flipside, boring could never be slapped on S.W. Del Master take the drum machine and effects and run wild to the other side. I really don't like it at all - it's full techno drum beat with whips of vocals repeating as much as the drum beat. It's club music with heavier vocals. (HG Fact)

Spile - Last Orders op 7" This is one of my favorite 7"s and new bands of the season! It's classic good old heavy styled punk rock from England and with at least one Chaos UK member. It's got a heavy crunch, lots of drums, a gruff vocal style, as well as a lighter catchiness in the guitar that blends together for a perfect sound - to make a classic for sure! This is one that I like so much I can't describe it any better - except to say that it's essential and most highly recommended!! (Blind Destruction Records/Box 29/82 Colston St./Bristol/BS1 5BB UK)

Spit - Kirsten Needs Lithium 7" 2 poppy upbeat songs. It's not bad, but I think they jumped the gun on putting on a record. Or maybe they should have at least combined the both 7"s onto one. No extra frills with this one. ($3.50ppd/No Clue Records/3112 McDonald St./Miami FL 33133)

Spit - Natural Born Idiots 7" This one is much better than the other. It's still pretty poppy, but with a grungy sound over it and the vocals are different - they warble to the music. I'm bored of the PC backlash lyrics. We're trying to figure out how come there's pictures of Dorothea on the cover. ($3.50ppd/No Clue Records/3112 McDonald St./Miami FL 33133)

State of the Union 7" Excellent excellent! Only 2 songs - but they're real long ones - with a heavy and hard rockin' beat mixed up with samples and sounds and a metal crunching guitar and screaming vocals. The heavy stuff. The good stuff! I like it! ($3 N.A./$5 world/Profane Existence/PO Box 8722/Minneapolis MN 55408)

Super Hi-5 - Beth 10" I had remembered them being a lot more melodic, but this recording is pretty raw with an edge to it, with screaming vocals and lots of energy. It's got a bit of emo and melody - but I think it's pretty good. But who is Beth? I don't think that any of the songs are about her and there's no goodies inside to read which is too bad. I'm guessing that one side of this might be live. What I like most about this is that it has an original quality to it that catches inside my head. (Creep Records/Suite 220/252 E. Market St./West Chester PA 19381)

Tank 18 7" I liked their demo tape last month, and already they've got a 7" out. It's good straight-forward thumpy drum beat hardcore that is engaging for repetitive listens. Comes with a patch too. ($3 N.A./$5 world/Passive Fist/POB 9313/Savannah GA 31412)

Teen Idols - Let's Make Noise 7" Fast thumping drums with a super uppy beat and good singing makes for a good style of pop punk. Reminds me of an old rockin' band of a totally different genre from where most poppy punk bands are coming from these days - this is like old 77 style punk. I like the vocals - the singing is good and the female back-up vocals are really cool. It's so fast that it really grabs my attention and holds it. Even the band picture of them playing looks like they'd be pretty fun to see. I like it! ($3ppd/House of Pain/POB 120861/Nashville TN 37212)

Torture Kitty - The Kids With The Crazy Eyes...Plus 5 7" High energy bouncing pop punk from Nashville. ($3ppd/House of Pain/POB 120861/Nashville TN 37212)

Vaise Triste/Silmaosasto/Evan Tyttaret 2 x split 7"

This is a relatively unique deal - with 2 split 7"s both have Vaise Triste, who refer to themselves as a weird sounding hardcore band (which I always think is kinda funny). They have a noisy, bass heavy disjointed sound and really what is "weird" is just that they have a totally original combination and sound. One split is with Silmaosasto, which is two dudes and a drum machine. They've got a heavy evil sound accentuated in the vocals and the repetition of a classic drum machine. The other split has Evan Tyttaret who play a drum beat heavy straight forward style of hardcore. All 3 bands are from Finland and make for a good deal. ($8ppd/Vaise Triste ob Wasky/ Niemistontie 55/60420 Seinajoki/Finland)

Voorhees - Smiling At Death CD These guys are straight out of Boston

...fucking me. The first song is still probably my favorite. I got a bit confused by the 2... cause the promo was actually only 2 songs from Diatribes and some other stuff which is now released and entitled "Greed Killing". Though "Diatribes" is the full length CD and I still love it, I think "Greed Killing" hit me with more impact. None the less, I'm totally siked after all of these years to like Napalm Death as much as I like this! (Earache)

No Sanctuary - K7 Radio Broadcast tape #1 I'm usually pretty wary of listening to radio show tapes, I guess cause I often find them boring — but not this one!! Anyone remember the zine out of Switzerland called No Sanctuary? Well Chris from Ruptured Ambitions has picked up doing the zine but rather than a paper format it's now a radio show, but it still contains the attitude of total D.I.Y. no compromising punk rock. It's neat to finally hear the voice of someone you've been in contact with for a long time, and quite honestly his voice sounds good on the tape. Mostly this is music by 4 Past Midnight, The Bus Station Loonies, Coitus, Total Control, Disorder, Naked Aggression, Fless and Lice, Combat Shock, The Absolute Zeros and a few more plus an interview with Rat from the Varukers. I forget how much copies of this are - so send $5 and I think that should cover it. (Ruptured Ambitions/Old Forge Cottage/Rushford/Lamerton, Tavistock/Devon PL19 8RY/England)

Oppressed Logic - P.C. Full Of Shit 7" What the fuck is with all of these dumb bands talking about getting head and fucking girls up the ass?? The lyrics go something like this: "Little girls, little girls in my fucking bed, little fucking hooker, give me some head, found a little slut, shoved it up her butt, next thing you know my life is in a rut". And what the fuck is with calling pop punk "gay"? I don't like pop-punk either - but gay? I thought we'd gotten past that stage. But then again this is PC backlash right? Well it's fucked up and just pissed me off!! (Beer City Records)

The Padded Cell - I Don't Need No Arms 7" Pretty good catchy rockin' stuff. Kinda reminds me of some of the more mid-paced old UK Oi! stuff. They're not from England, but it almost sounds as if they could be. It's got that rockin' guitar and a good upbeat pogo kinda energy and the vocals stand out a lot. ($3ppd/Dead Beat Records/PO Box 283/LA CA 90078)

Pitch Shifter - Infotainment? Another old band that I used to love and lost track of, back with a new release. These guys cross all sorts of boundaries into the industrial heavy sampled somewhat techno meets metal bass heavy insanity. (Earache)

Pisspoor - tape Raw fast grating thrash with a female singer. Very abrasive! ($32/6501-b Chesterfield Ave/Austin TX 78752)

Plow United - LP From West Chester Rock City comes Plow, oops, I mean Plow United. Though for the most part this is pretty poppy and somewhat melodic which ordinarily isn't all that interesting - I really do like these guys. This isn't a record to grab me from the first listen, but I think it'll grow on me. They've got a 7" with a song called "West Chester Rock City" and I'm telling you it's gonna start a hyped up movement!! (Creep Records/Suite 220/252 E. Market St/West Chester PA 19381)

Plow United - new CD I'm not sure what this is titled, cause I just got the disc - but gee, it sure is good!! In fact - it's the best yet from these guys and it totally blows me away as being one of the best things I've heard!! Full energy with wacky craziness and super catchy tunes (and they left the pop behind!!) Rock on!! This is excellent - for sure a band to check out!!! (Creep Records)

Plow United/Stressboy split 7" Go Plow Go!! Fuck yeah - in the realm and world of anything poppy these guys are at the top of the list!! They cut loose and go with loads of energy packed in there and they've got a catchy (and yes poppy) sound that grabs a hold and takes you with it. I can see the kids going wild!! Besides the energy overload - they stand out because they're interesting and definitely a stand out in the crowd! After hearing such raving stuff about Stressboy so often, I still don't think that I've seen them. But they are another one that is a step out and above in the catchy pop punk land. This is a really good split - and these are also two bands to make me stop slagging pop-punk. How about I call them high energy catchy punk instead? (Creep Records)

Propagandhi - Less Talk More Rock LP I've never really heard this band before, even though it seems that I've been hearing lots of favorable Rat Bastards - All That Was Left After 7" When I read the lyrics about "trailer park trash - white trash scums" I kinda thought it was harsh - but then the next song has lyrics "Slip slide - in her little hole, take her fucking tract, shit dip her discomfort gets me off, vice grip it tightens when she coughs, addiction my friends all say I'm mad, friction no lube when she's been bad" - What the fuck? I think rude and I'm completely NOT interested at all. The ripping fast hardcore doesn't matter, cause I think the lyrics are Fucked! (Beer City Records)

Remission - Human Compassion tape Good stuff! Grinding mayhem thrashy punk with raw and abrasive dual vocals and a good punchy pogo beat. I like it!! This tape is real short, but they've also got a 7" "Fetus The Code" on Power Ground Records and an LP "Our Days Our Numbered" coming out on Beer City Records. Keep your ears and eyes open for Remission. They will be playing Sat. June 15th at ABC NO RIO. (Power Ground Records/1309 S. 21st St/Minnetonka WI 54220)

 Scatha - Respect Protect Reconnect LP I have awaited this record like none before. I have heard about this band, made up of members of Sedition and Disaffect (2 of my favorites) and just waited and waited to hear them and finally my first listen is a full LP. This is a record that brought me home from the post office clutching it with glee and running straight for the turntable, and it was worth the wait cause it's all that I expect it could and would be. Sometimes when I like something so much the words to actually describe it totally fail me as will probably be the case here because this just speaks to me through my blood, pours and mind all at once! First off all it's the singer from Sedition, so it's got the same style of deep throated vocals. Musically it's heavy with tons of pounding throbbering and thundering drums and metallic guitars - but these words don't in any way get across the power and magnificence of the blending of all of these things together which near perfection for me! What takes all of this so many steps further is the words and lyrics which are about reconnecting to the earth and the earth's spirit, about respect for animals and people with a bit of Celtic history. I don't have an affinity for poetic words - but the ones here say so much to me and all of this together - the beautiful heartfelt and meaningful words along with kick ass music and beautiful knowwork and imagery couldn't have come at a better time! This band is the top of my favorite list and can't come more highly recommended!!!!!! ($10 Eur./$12 world/Flat Earth/Bradford Music/PO Box 169/Bradford BD7 1YS UK Distributed through Active/BM London/WC1N/London UK. And Profane Existence and Tribal War in the USA)

Slayer - Undisputed Attitude LP I love Slayer and I guess anyone else that does probably already knows about this release that is all covers of old punk and hardcore bands songs - by the likes of DRI, Dr. Know, DI, Verbal Abuse, Minor Threat as well as a few new ones of their own. Gotta have it! (American Recordings)

Violently III (MI) have some serious distortion on the vocals which doesn't really sound too good and Enemy Soil's (VA) song got lost in between the two bands. Pheno Phobia (from Japan) blast beat and shriek/scream through 3 songs, Soiled (NY) rip through 12 awful blasts of noise which are ridiculous to call songs and Section (MI) finish off side B with the best song yet (fast thrashing hardcore). Side C has Short Hate Temper (TX) with one fast song, Potato Justice (TX) with a couple low-fi living room recorded sounding songs and Wound (MI) are pretty good but I bet they'd be really good with a better sounding recording and a tighter sound - they've got that dual grinding thing happening. Actually I bet that most all of these bands could do with a real good recording and a bit more time to work on it - but hey, if you're into the noisy thing then perhaps this Really they're from Northern England. This is an excellent CD crammed full with 69 tunes - compiling songs from 2 demos, "Violent 7", "Spilling Blood Without Reason" LP as well as LP outtakes and a session of Negative Approach covers. It's kinda neat to see a band from England taking their influence from early 80s American hardcore, after becoming so used to Americans going for a UK punk sound. They've got covers from Black Flag, Raw Power, DYS, Negative Approach and even though they're not on here they also do Minor Threat and Agnostic Front and they totally kick ass! your head after hearing it and I'm going back to Richmond right now so that I can see this band play!!! (And they were excellent!!!) ($3/Wardance World HQ/PO Box 2984/ Richmond VA 23220)

The Warped Weeble Wobblers - The 7 of Mr. Furley Ah right! I'm totally siked to hear this record cause I just recently got to see this band at the PWAC on Long Island and I thought they were great! It's not that often that I think a band is really fun as well as funny - but that is what these guys are like. I might not have thought as much of the music on it's own, but after seeing them I totally appreciate this goofy half raphardcore stuff and I can picture Bob bouncing around the stage singing these songs! Reminds me a bit of Doggy Style. "We're the hardcore kids" is the sing-a-long song. These guys are really great! There's 4 Mike's and a Bob in this band, and I thought I had problems with Chris's! (Mother Box Records/60 Denton Ave./E. Rockaway NY 11518)

Wolfpack - Bloodstained Dreams CD As expected, this band's from Sweden. They've got that unmistakable Swedish hardcore sound, which is basically a crunching heavy and fast beat, but then then they break that up with some much more classic metal riffs and to ice the cake there's some galloping double bass drums! I think it's delicious! ($15ppd/ Distortion Records/Box 129/401 22/Gothenburg Sweden)

The Wretched Ones - Live On A Five Vol. One 5" I can't play 5" records on my turntable, but they sure are cute. (Headache Records/PO Box 204/Midland Park NJ 07432)

The Wretched Ones - Hey Old Man 7" These guys are good. Always have been a favorite of this style - and that is the oi/pogo kinda punk. They've got an energetic beat that is balanced by deep vocals. It's catchy and good. 3 songs. (PogoStick Records/PO Box 354/Midland Park NJ 07432)

Y.A.P.O. - Young And Pissed Off 7" The first time I listened to this I was kinda disappointed cause it wasn't quite what I was expecting after hearing the demo. Straight-up punk rock with a thumpity pogo beat that also has a clean rockin' guitar and a catchy melody sing-a-long style. Seems to be taking it roots in some older punk rock that utilizes more singing vocals and rocking music, but they still have an edge. ($3 US/$4 C-M/$5 world/Beer City Records/PO Box 26035/Milwaukee WI 53226-0035)

Youth Brigade - To Sell Truth CD Brand new one from Youth Brigade. Never was a fan of these guys, so I feel a poor judge of the new stuff. Some of it is really good and catchy and enjoyable and I like the way the vocals mesh together. But much of it just gets too wooah sing songey styled for my tastes. I keep going back and forth - just when I think, perhaps this is the best Youth Brigade I've heard then I get bored with it

Active Ingredients: The Curse of Madame

"C" NOFX Jr. (Beer City)

Alcoholocaust/Dratsab split. Noisy drunk punk with really shitty production. (903 Wolff St, Denver, CO 80204)

Anti-Heros: Murder One cd No surprises here, another great example of American Oil Contrary to MRR's shitty review, the title track is a condemnation of three skinhead's murder of a homeless man in Atlanta. I kind of feel bad for the Anti-Heros - they've been doing this for like 10 years and still have to constantly defend them selves against the racism label that's thrown at them every couple of years by some kid who's been into punk for about six months. Having said that, the homophobic lyrics in the third song leave a dark mark on an otherwise great record. It's too bad, really. I mean, ok, they needed a rhyme for "smut" but to use "butt" just sounds dumb. Here's a suggestion to improve the song: "Fuck the sex and fuck the smut; Fuck the guys whose cars go putt putt." It doesn't mean anything, but then again, neither does the line its supposed to replace.. (GMM Records, P.O. Box 15234, Atlanta, GA 30333)

Atrozistema/Madrizsal split 7" Cool split with two decent thrashy Mexican bands. The proceeds from this record go towards building the scene in Monterrey, N.L., the part of Mexico from whence this record comes. (Apdo.Postal 1566, C.P. 64001, Monterrey, N.L. MEXICO)

Beautiful Bert & the Lucious Ones 7" Instead of a review, I'll just quote part of their thanks list: "... 70's punk music, Plasmatics, Dictors [I think they mean the Dictators], NY Dolls, Kiss, Pistols, pro wrestling, beer..." This kinda rocks. (Beer City)

Behold the Prophet: No Lord Shall Live Wow. Noisy as hell, but really driving and powerful. My friend Audra thinks this sounds "Like a crossed telephone signal, and all I'd add is that the reason the signal got crossed is because an electrical storm just demolished the city from which the call was placed. Most definitely a good thing. For those who are interested, the band includes ex-members of Mukiteo Fairies. (Outpunk, P.O. Box 170501, SF, CA 94117)

tion in office, who may have sucked for the country and the world, but was pretty good for punk rock. Since then, there's been a real lack of genuine, bald-faced evil in mainstream culture, and as a result, there's been a real lack of genuine, bald-faced evil bands. Instead, we've had an explosion of pop-punk bands. Milktoast music for milktoast minds. If ever we want punk to have meaning again, we need a man with presence and vision in the White House. Which is why I'm supporting Pat Buchanan's campaign in '96. Fuck the poor. Long live vinyl. Run, Pat, run. (297 Highview Dr, Leola, PA 17540)

Candiria: Surrealistic Madness cd Metal, but heavily rooted in jazz. It's an interesting record, full of surprises and unusual beats and sounds, but occasionally sacrifices some of its rawness a bit too much. Then again, that might be the fact that this is a CD, which tends to make everything sound too clean. I'm going to listen to this a few more times, at which point I think I'll either wind up loving it, or thinking its really stupid. Ask me in a week or so. (Too Damn Hype Records, P.O. Box 1520 Cooper Station, NYC, NY 10276-1520)

Capitalist Casualties/Slight Slappers split Cluster Bomb Unit/War of Aggression split

vb: Tottori City H.C. Three more great records from MCR, all of which can be summed up as "Awesome grindcore crust mayhem brilliance kicking much butt." (MCR company, 157 Kamiyama Maizuru, Kyoto 624 JAPAN)
Charles Bronson 7" Great record. The drums sound like E.N.T., guitars like 80's era thrash punk, and vocals like Darby Crash. The band seems to reach the perfect balance of being really pissed off, while being pretty goofy and having a lot of fun. (Six Weeks, 2262 Knolls Hill Cr., Santa Rosa, CA 95405) Chickenshit/UG Man: Armageddon split 7" The Chickenshit side is fairly generic grindcore with kousy production; UG Man is weird and/or goofy grindy trash which most people won't like, but which sort of works for me.

Leprous bands better than their previous couple of releases. Politically charged punk rock with a mind does sound and slightly gravelly vocals. Typically they discuss teen pregnancy, homophobia, resistance, animal testing, and the lower tanglers, all injected with a sense of humor. The songs are faster, rarer, shorter, and the production is better. This release has made me a fan. This disc is limited to 500. (M4) off, they're from California. Second, they play really good early NOFX/Propagandhi style punk rock. Third, there's actually a lot of thought behind what they do. Guess you really can't judge a book by its cover... (4583 Pearl Ave #4, San Jose, CA 95136-1811)

The Ingenious Device/Hiroshima 22/Taste of Fear 3-way split 7" Beautifully put together, obviously a lot of time and energy went into this. Ingenious Device is experimental noise, at times reminding me of Dawson, "10-notes" era Crass, and the Trashmen (!), but there's a lot more going on here. Hiroshima 22 and Taste of Fear are both really good, fairly straightforward grindcore noise. (Embryo, 15 Bay 17th Street, Brooklyn, NY 11214)

Larry Birds 7" Pop punk with good harmonies and throaty lead vocals. The guitars sometimes sound almost a little folksy, which I think gives it kind of a Fifteen feel. (Rhetoric Records, P.O. Box 82, Madison, WI 53701)

Levelhead/Quadiliacha split Levelhead is a well-played fairly generic Screaming Weasel imitation, while Quadiliacha sounds like NOFX. (Standfast Recs, P.O. Box 973, Lilburn, GA 30226)

Mary Me: Firecrackers 7" Yet another otherwise good pop-punk band ruined by a lame-ass wimpy singer. Oh well. (Allied Records, P.O. Box 460683, SF, CA 94146-0683)

Melt Banana/Discordance Axis split M.B. is a great experimental thrash band that I would love to see live. Solid rhythms with totally fucked-up guitars, and screaming ducking sounding vocals. D.A. is a brutal grindcore noise assault. I like it!! (H.G. Fact, 401 Hongo-M, 2-36-2 Yayoi-Cho, Nakano-ku, Tokyo 164, JAPAN)

Mental Decay: Walking Stick 7" Decent if fairly generic big band guitar style rockabilly from New Jersey. Hey, am I wrong in thinking this band has been around forever? Or am I confusing them with Mental Abuse? Well, I think one of those bands used to do a pretty cool cover of "If I Only Had a Brain." But it isn't on this record, so never mind. (Headache Records, P.O. Box 204 Midland Pk, NJ 07432)

Misery Index: Power of 3 7" I'd really expected to hate this, but, damn, it's good - lots of power and emotion, with driving drums, and solid guitar work. The vocals lack personality, but the band more than makes up for it. A solid release. (Cactus Prick Records, P.O. Box 27142, Tempe, AZ 85285)

Mulligan Stg: Trailer Park Kings 7" Decent Screaming Weasel-style pop punk. (Rhetoric Records)

Ninetinger: Torque/Bad Wheel 7" Mike Dean (C.O.C.)'s new band, formerly called Spore. Heavy plodding metal à la the Melvins. (Deaf American)

Nothing Yet: Scratch & Sniff 7" On the one hand, this is pretty straightforward 80's style hardcore played pretty well. Which is cool. On the other hand, Naked Aggression Records put out a record with a big picture of a stripper on the back. Which makes me wonder what the hell they were thinking? Overall, this seems maybe just a little too "Epitaph-friendly" (as my friend Missy put it), if you know what I mean. (Naked Aggression records, P.O. Box 3102, N. Hollywood, CA 91609)

Old Bull's Needle: Wrong Again 7" Really good thrashy punk. (no address)

ONLY LIVING WITNESS: Innocents cd According to the press release, "an album that pushes the band's songwriting talents to their limits," -and believe me, they are limited- "setting the standard for other hard alternative/post-hardcore bands to live up to." Yawn. (Century Media, 1453-A 14th street #324, Santa Monica, CA 90404)

Operation Cliff Clavin: Top Secret 7" Decent if fairly generic pop punk. (5810 W. Willis Rd, Georgetown, IN 47122)

Parasites: Top Secret 7" Yet another Parasites record. I haven't liked their brand of wimpy pop punk ever before, and I still don't. Sorry. (Rocco Records, P.O. Box 14781, Chicago, IL 60614-0281)

Paper Tulips: Vilamin C 7" Strange mix of Touch & Go and low-fi garage sound that actually works pretty well. Comes with Rebus Puzzle lyric sheet. (Trunk Records)

Pink Lincolns: Sumo Fumes 3 Two covers and one original song, which is the best on the record. Really good drunk rock, but still not as inspired as some of their earlier releases. (Stiff Pole Records)

Real Lulu's: Hell/Motorhead 7" Not quite "punk" enough to be pop punk, just straight-up rocknroll with great female vocals. (Simple Solution Records, 1025 Brown Street, Dayton, OH 45409)

Scared of Chaka/The Gain split 7" The Scared of Chaka side is much better than the last record I heard; it's good fast bouncy pop-punk, with a slight garage feel to it. The Gain is garage punk with a nice full guitar sound. (702 Records, P.O. Box 204, Reno, NV, 89504)

SHIV: Fleged and Ashamed cd Musically, this seems to have a bit of a Blast or late-era Black Flag influence, with vocals that sound kind of like The Mad, who I'm pretty sure were not an influence. It's kind of "New Alternative Grunge Metal-ly", but still raw enough to be interesting. No lyric sheet, but from what lyrics I can make out, that's no great loss. (thirsty ear records, 274 Madison Ave, #804, NY, NY 10016)

Shelwell Coho 7" Aaron Cometbus + another guy from Chrimpshrine + someone from Strawman - any noticeable degree of energy or inspiration = an instantly forgettable record. (Broken Rekids, P.O. Box 460402, SF, CA 94146-0402)

Sourbelly: Plasma Boy 7" Sounds like a Touch & Go band. (I Wanna Records, P.O. Box 303 WBB, Dayton, OH 45409)

Spent Idols: No Broken Promises 7" Apparently this is a repress, but I hadn't heard of this in the first place, so that doesn't really matter. This is minimalist punk-rock, and it really doesn't do much for me. (Spent City Records, P.O. Box 383 Vista, CA 92085)

Switch Style 7" Really good macho-core from Japan. (H.G. Fact)

Tempo Zero: Mondo a Parlo 7" Melodic thrashy political hardcore from Italy. (Blu Bus, Via Consolata 5, 11100 Aosta, ITALIA)

VOODOO GLOW SKULLS: Firme cd What I'm trying to figure out is, if I like this record, which I do, why don't I like the Mighty Might Bosstones? Which I don't. Like the Bosstones, the Glow Skulls mixes hardcore and ska, but unlike the Bosstones, who jump back and forth between the two, this album combines them to create a distinctive sound that is really neither hardcore nor ska, but something new: Ska instrumentation and arrangement played in time to a breakneck punk beat, with a killer horn section. I'd love to see this live. (Epitaph, try your local mall)

Wife Beater/Sorry Excuse 7" Straightforward dumb rock punk. I think the Sorry Excuse side is better, if only because it's sillier. (Obnoxious Records, 26 Sherwood Circle, Manchester, CT 06040)

WORDS A GAME: cd Chris, giving this to me said "Mega-emo. I can't deal. You review it." I'm still not sure what emo is, but this cd is pretentious high-art bullshit. If that's emo, you can keep it. (Turn of the Century Records, 50 Lexington Avenue, Ste. #197, NY, NY 10010)

XXY 7" Sloppy noisy punk rock that's so raw and shitty that it comes across as totally honest and neat and fun and I like it so there. (Novelty Yellow, P.O. Box 81642, Lincoln, NE 68502) vs Breaking the Cultural Curlew - an Israeli H.C. Punk comp The coolest thing about this is the History of Israeli Punk article included in the insert, tying punk to broader social and cultural themes both Israeli and internationally and carrying a strong anti-consumerist message. The bands are good too, all heavily influenced by mid-80's American H.C. Unfortunately, none of their lyrics seems to live up to the lofty themes suggested in the essay. (Beer City! Milwaukee, WI 53226-0035)

V.A: Revolutionary Cry 3 Japanese Dis-noise bands. It's yummy, mummy! (MCR)

V.A: Second State 7" Four Pennsylvania bands (Davenport, Objects of Hate, Montgomery Burns, The Ick), covering very divergent styles of music, from pop-punk to discordant post-punk to straight up thrash, but held together as a coherent package by a nice little booklet that includes a great but short essay on the state of the state by Chumple editor Greg. Nice job. (P.O. Box 680, Conneaut Lake, PA 16316-0680)

V.A: Six Weeks Omnibus - A Japanese H.C. comp Ah yes... this doth rule most mightily. Ten Japanese hardcore noise thrash mayhem bands rip it up on eight inches of pure extract of power. (Six Weeks c/o Athena & Jeff, 2262 Knolls Hill Cr., Santa Rosa, CA 95405)

V.A: SPACE CADET cd Collection of Florida bands. I think comps like this usually don't work. While all the bands are from the same geographic area, they don't share that much musically, so you get a record that lets anyone find a song or two they like, but which no one likes entirely. The Cavity song is awesome, though, as is the didgeridoo piece preceding it. (Space Cadette Records, 7339 SW 45th Street, Ste A, Miami, FL 33155).

RECYCLING TIPS & ECO-FRIENDLY ADVICE

Slug & Lettuce used to regularly feature a section of recycling tips and eco-friendly information. A point came where I felt like the concept of Reduce, Reuse and Recycle was so obvious that I had pretty much said all I could. It's been several years now and a few people have asked what happened to the section, and the need for this information seems to be great, so I've decided to reprint some of the most basic and useful information.

For me, recycling is an obvious thing to do. It's based around an entire philosophy of life for me that is, one of minimal waste and low-impact on the environment moving in the direction of self-sufficiency and sustainability. At the very foundation and root of everything is conscious thought. If you think about your actions, and consider the consequences they have on other people, the community and the environment, you can make wise decisions. Of course, I'm assuming that people are all interested in "doing the right thing", and moving in a positive step to eliminate waste and live thoughtfully. If you are interested in that sort of lifestyle, which I personally think is important for everyone, then all you need to do is put a little bit of thought into what you do and how you do it: consider your lifestyle and habits, what products you use, where and how you shop, what things you really need vs. what you do not, and weigh out your priorities.

As far as recycling goes: it's all about minimizing your waste. In my eyes it seems obvious that eliminating unnecessary garbage from cluttering up our streets and land is a positive thing. Doing this starts with each and everyone of us considering the actions that we take on a daily basis. It's all really simple, and though much of this advice is based around consumerism (buying products), ultimately moving as far away from "Buying Products" is the best form of "Recycling" we can do.

We must go to the root of the problem and reduce the amount of garbage we create. REDUCE the amount of garbage and unnecessary shit right from the start - be it with over-packaging on products that you need to the point of considering just whether you really NEED anything. I'm all for the minimization and put a lot of thought into not accumulating unnecessary material items as well as garbage. Put forethought into what you're buying and eliminate unnecessary packaging and garbage. Look at your trash and get familiar with what you use, and then reduce your waste.

REUSE: either reuse things for their original use, or be creative and think up alternative uses, or else pass along items you no longer want... either to friends or organizations (thrift stores, schools, community groups, yard sales, etc.) Do not waste things.

Then everything else should be able to be RECYCLED. Either through curbside collection or through centers in the community. Aluminum, Tin, Glass, Newspaper, Cardboard, Paper and Plastic are the basic recyclables. SEPERATE reusable and recyclable items at the time of disposal, by cleaning out the containers, bottles, etc. at the time of use, dry them and put in their own place. Recycling can be very simple, if organized. Be alert to laws requiring separation of reusable and recyclable materials from solid waste.

Because we have such a dependency on non-renewable resources and are essentially raping the earth are an even better way of recycling.

- don't buy single use, throw-away products (such as razors, plastic utensil, paper plates etc.) — look for ones that can be used repetitively.
- buy fruits and vegetables, grains, pastas and any loose items without packaging (especially avoid styrofoam and plastic packaging)
- don't buy plastic
- it is possible to find dairies that refill milk containers in a refillable and reusable bottle. Likewise honey and peanut butter can be purchased in refillable bulk containers. Try eco-minded health food stores.
- avoid the "aseptic drink box" made of layers of paper, plastic and aluminum - it can not be recycled. Instead use drink containers that are reusable or at least recycled. Anyone have any alternatives to buying soy-milk that is not in these sort of containers??

Choose the reusable alternative to disposable products:

- sponge or rags vs. paper towels
- reusable razors vs. disposable shavers
- coffee mug vs. paper or plastic cups
- washable plates vs. paper
- cloth napkins vs. paper
- cloth diapers vs. disposable; handkerchief vs. tissues
- reusable mesh coffee filters vs. paper

Concentrated or bulk:

- choose concentrated juice, laundry soap and cleaners (reduce waste, and save money)
- purchase dry foods in bulk (health food stores have bulk bins great for beans, pastas, grains etc.) or else buy the larger sizes of products to reduce the packaging waste. When you are shopping in bulk - bring your own containers/bags and continue to reuse them.
- purchase in bulk whenever possible

Reuse and Recycle Paper

- Use both sides of paper when copying and writing
- Share magazines and newspapers with friends or donate your already read ones to hospitals, doctors offices, or community places.
- Use common sense and your imagination... all paper/junk mail etc. can be used as note paper. Look for organizations that will accept used paper and organize a collection system in your school or workplace.
- Create a demand for recycled paper by using recycled printing and writing paper. Support local recycling efforts. Find out how much secondary (waste) fiber it contains vs. how much was derived from post-consumer waste paper, also whether the paper is de-linked, bleached or dyed.
- Cancel unnecessary magazine subscription
- Stop junk mail. To have your name removed from mailing lists write to Direct Marketing Service/ 11 West 42nd Street/ POB 3861/ NY NY 10163.
- Phone books can be recycled with newsprint (curbside collection in NYC).
- Cardboard boxes: flatten and tie them up. Some recycling center accept them, if not try grocery chains who have balers and reclaim all cardboard.
- Brown paper bags can be recycled with corrugated first. Trees can also be chopped for fire wood after Christmas (rural living). Consider preycling and keep a living tree in a pot, then plant it after the holiday season.

- Donate second hand clothes to a non-profit organization (thriftstore/homeless shelter). Worn-out clothes can be turned into rags for kitchen/bathroom cleaning (wash and reuse).
- Tampons: use ones with out applicators. If you're afraid to touch your body, use a paper applicator over a plastic one. There are also natural sponges that can be used internally, or home-made cloth pads to keep it all totally DIY.

Water and Energy Saving Tips Around The House

- Conserve energy. Use less energy and use it wisely.
 - Compact Fluorescent bulbs are an efficient lighting source within the house. Fluorescent adapter bulbs are available, conserving energy by using less wattage to create the same brightness and incandescent bulbs. They last longer as well, which will also save you money.
 - Adjust settings on water heaters and air conditioners to conserve energy.
 - Don't let faucet taps leak or drip water. A running faucet uses 3-5 gallons a minute. Consider this: Brushing teeth: wet and rinse your brush, this will use 1/2 gallon, saving 9 gallons wasted if you let the tap run. Shaving: fill basin, will use 1 gallon instead of 14. Washing dishes: fill basin, will use 5 gallons, saving 25. To really get an in idea of how much water is wasted - fill up a 5 gallon jug with a pump and use all of your water from there to see just how far it goes. You can really make that 5 gallons of water last if you are not simply running it down the drain. Better yet, carry that 5 gallon jug from a spring and you will really learn to appreciate the value of every drop of water!
 - Put lids on pots to avoid heat waste and help water boil faster
 - Use small pots on small burners, large on large for efficiency
 - Use cool/cold water when possible
 - Keep drinking water in refrigerator to avoid running the tap to get it cold (it tastes better too)
 - Water plants with leftover drinking water or from washing veggies (vitamins are good for the plants.) Save a container to collect misc. water and see how fast it adds up.
 - Use rechargeable batteries.
 - If you pets like to nibble on your house plants, use crushed rue leaves over the plants which will deter the animal without any chemical repellents.
 - For dogs that like to chew on furniture or wood in the house, try painting cayenne pepper mixed with water over the surface. When their mouth burns, they're not going to want to chew anymore.
 - Rather than using electricity - open curtains and let the sun shine into your home during the day. The sun is the brightest and least expensive source of light available.
 - If you live in a house, consider planting short, dense evergreen shrubs around the foundation, to provide insulation from cold.
- Around The Kitchen
- Reusable containers: for food storage, instead of aluminum or plastic wrap.
 - Use unbleached coffee filters - bleached paper products create dioxin, a deadly toxic which is dumped into waterways.

Natural dyes and paints were used for centuries before the onslaught of chemical paints. Problem: up to 300 toxic substances, including solvents and fungicides have been found in commercial oil and latex paint. Harmful vapors remains for months after paint dries. Permanent makers have harmful solvents such as toluene, xylene and ethanol. Waterbased markers are preferable and safer. There is a book "Artists Beware" which gives info. on protection methods to reduce risks associated with various art supplies.

Rug and Upholstery Cleaners

Sprinkle cornstarch and baking soda on rugs and furniture. Let sit and then vacuum. You can also mix in some good smelling herbs. Problem: rentable cleaners often have dry cleaning agents.

Flea and Tick Treatment

Use Brewers Yeast (and garlic) with pet food, starting with less than a tea-spoon and increasing daily. Safe pet dips made from citrus extracts are available. Pyrethrin powder made from chrysanthemums sprinkled on carpets and then vacuumed will prevent further infestation. House sprays (made from Citrus Oil) and collars made from organic materials are available through health food stores. You can make your own with orange or grapefruit skins. Put then through a blender and simmer in water - when dried, brush through fur. Bio-degradable non-toxic insecticidal soaps are available through garden supply companies. Problem: Commercial pesticides have dangerous carcinogens which can be bad for the pet as well as people.

Specific Problems

- Coffee cup stains: moist salt
- Coffee pot stains: vinegar
- Grease removal: Borax and damp cloth
- Pet Odor remover: vinegar
- Roach Repellent: chopped bay leaves, cucumber skins or boric acid.
- Residual odor in containers: baking soda and water
- Surfaces: vinegar, salt and water
- Basic cleaning: vinegar and water
- Cleaning burned pans: 1) remove cooked food and boil water. 2) sprinkle w/ baking soda and soak for a few hours. 3) remove stains from non-stick surfaces by boiling 2 tablespoons of baking soda to a cup of water. Wipe with cooking oil before using again.
- "Spritz" starch can be made from 2 tablespoons of cornstarch and 1 part cold water. Shake well and spray.
- For a more abrasive cleaner use 1/2 lemon dipped in borax
- For soapy buildup on chrome bathroom fixtures, use undiluted vinegar. Let sit for 5 min., then rinse.
- Substitute baking soda for scouring powder to clean kitchen appliances, counters and sinks. It cleans and deodorizes at the same time.
- Handwashing dishes: Add 1/2 cup of vinegar to keep grease from clinging to pans and dishes.
- To make rooms smell good - use vinegar, cloves and cinnamon in a glass jar, heat and place where needed. This will absorb odors rather than cover them, like commercial products.

Safe Supplies To Be Chosen Over Chemical Prod-

consider your lifestyle and habits, what products you use, where and how you shop, what things you really need vs. what you do not, and weigh out your priorities.

And if that means carrying your own mug for coffee and beverages, not taking paper bags when you shop, and not leaving the faucet run off water that you are not using - then you are making a big contribution towards eliminating waste. These things can continually be taken one step further and moved into a more pure and idealistic place. Consider what you do and always think what could be better and less wasteful or harmful. That idealistic place would be complete self-sufficiency and sustainability. In other words providing all of your resources and needs, on your own - growing and making everything - the truly Do-It-Yourself way!!

Recycling is just the beginning of a much bigger picture of an entire lifestyle. But it is also an important and very simple first step. The information here is pretty basic, but it's stuff that I feel is relevant and applicable to just about any and everyone.

A few notes on recycling:

One simple thing you can do is not take a bag when you make a small purchase (esp. a soda or something that you will consume immediately). If you plan on shopping take a bag with you. Preferable a cloth bag, but if you already have plastic bags saved then reuse them. If you stop and think if you really need it (a bag, or whatever object with extra packaging) you can really make a difference. There is an unbelievable amount of waste on completely unnecessary things. Locate either a recycling center in your neighborhood or check into curbside recycling. Newspapers, glass and cans can be recycling

- Brown paper bags can be recycled with corrugated cardboard.
- Take advantage of libraries

Miscellaneous Tips

- Avoid aerosol - there is no practical reuse or recycling potential. Instead look for pump sprays and burn candles or incense instead of using aerosol airfreshner.
- If you have to bring home a shopping bag, use them as garbage bags, or donate to a business that will reuse them (like the Salvation army or any thrift store). Don't just throw them away. Get into the practice/habit of carrying your own bag (preferable a cloth or mesh one) with you when you plan to shop. Some supermarkets now offer a 3¢ refund when you bring your own bags. It's yet another incentive to bring your own.
- Rather than use refreezable "ice" containers, freeze a plastic bottle w/ water and use the same way.
- Purchase products compatible with your neighborhood recycling program. Plan ahead and consider what you will be buying and where things will ultimately end up.
- Give away things you no longer need or want, or donate to a charitable organization or thrift store. Don't throw away good items that are still usable.
- Buy produce in season and from your local region. Support local agriculture rather than importing products from another region. Not only are you paying for shipping and transportation (unnecessary waste) but your local farmers need the support and it will promote self-sustainability.
- Nature is one large composting system. Living organisms "eat" organic material and turn it into a rich, crumbly soil called humus. Food scraps and yard waste can be recycled

Consider this: Brushing teeth: wet and rinse your brush, this will use 1/2 gallon, saving 9 gallons wasted if you let the tap run. Shaving: fill basin, will use 1 gallon instead of 14. Around the Kitchen

- Reusable containers: for food storage, instead of aluminum or plastic wrap.
- Use unbleached coffee filters - bleached paper products create dioxin, a deadly toxic which is dumped into waterways.
- Use rags (old t-shirts, fabrics, etc.) rather than paper products.
- Reuse paper towels used for drying hands, let them dry. Better yet just use a towel.
- Reuse plastic wrap and plastic bags (it can be washed). Keep in a handy place. Better yet, use containers.

ENVIRONMENTALLY SAFE CLEAN-UP

Non-Toxic Environmentally Safe Cleaning: With these few items you can do all your cleaning naturally and safely without any chemicals. Flake Soap/Bar soap (Ivory), Washing/Baking soda, Borax, Vinegar, Salt, Lemon.

All Purpose Cleaner

Use hot water, soap and borax, or use 1/2 cup "washing soda" per bucket of water. Problem: avoid ammonia, which attacks your lungs, and chlorine which forms cancer causing compounds when released into the environment.

Dishwashing liquids

Use liquid soap such as castile or rub a damp dishtowel over a bar of soap. Look for naturally derived or glycerin based soaps. Problem: most dishwashing liquids are detergents (not soap) which are derived from scarce petroleum, they are non-biodegradable and contain artificial fragrances and colors.

Laundry Products

Use soap products which boost "washing soda". It brightens all fabrics and costs less. 1/2 cup vinegar in rinse water will soften laundry and cut soap use. Using soap flakes is a non-toxic and bio-degradable substitute for detergent. Add 1/3 cup of washing soda (sodium carbonate) to help remove stains and grease. Or use Borax. Problem: most products are non-biodegradable. Even phosphate free cleaning materials are available through health food stores. You can make your own with orange or grapefruit skins. Put then through a blender and simmer in water - when dried, brush through fur. Bio-degradable non-toxic insecticidal soaps are available through garden supply companies. Problem: Commercial pesticides have dangerous carcinogens which can be bad for the pet as well as people.

Specific Problems

- Coffee cup stains: moist salt
- Coffee pot stains: vinegar
- Grease removal: Borax and damp cloth
- Pet Odor remover: vinegar
- Roach Repellent: chopped bay leaves, cucumber skins or boric acid.
- Residual odor in containers: baking soda and water
- Surfaces: vinegar, salt and water
- Basic cleaning: vinegar and water
- Cleaning burned pans: 1) remove cooked food and boil water. 2) sprinkle w/ baking soda and soak for a few hours. 3) remove stains from non-stick surfaces by boiling 2 tablespoons of baking soda to a cup of water. Wipe with cooking oil before using again.
- "Spritz" starch can be made from 2 tablespoons of cornstarch and 1 part cold water. Shake well and spray.
- For a more abrasive cleaner use 1/2 lemon dipped in borax
- For soapy buildup on chrome bathroom fixtures, use undiluted vinegar. Let sit for 5 min., then rinse.
- Substitute baking soda for scouring powder to clean kitchen appliances, counters and sinks. It cleans and deodorizes at the same time.
- Handwashing dishes: Add 1/2 cup of vinegar to keep grease from clinging to pans and dishes.
- To make rooms smell good - use vinegar, cloves and cinnamon in a glass jar, heat and place where needed. This will absorb odors rather than cover them, like commercial products.

Safe Supplies To Be Chosen Over Chemical Products

- White glue, library paste, wheat paste, water based markers, wax crayons and dustless chalk, liquid water based paints, any water based products.
- Do not mix ammonia with chlorine bleach - they will create dangerous fumes. If you must use ammonia, always have ventilation.
- Avoid commercial products. Baking powder, vinegar and lemon are the best for cleaning. They are friendlier to the skin and more environmentally safe, and not corporate!

Say "NO" to what you're not going to use

• Napkins, straws, plastic utensils, condiments, bags... If you don't intend to use them then don't take them. Especially in NYC where bodegas love to give this stuff away, tell them you don't need it, and if they don't listen, then just don't take it. Or else take your item out of the bag and leave it on the counter (they're gonna reuse it). Don't be lazy!

• When in a restaurant: if you don't plan to drink any water - then don't let the waitperson fill you a wasteful glass. Though I suggest drinking water, rather than commercial sodas. It's better for you and free!

A Few Facts...

- $1 out of every $10 we spend pays for packaging.
- Packaging makes up 1/3 of our wastes by weight, 1/2 by volume.
- Each New Yorker generates over a ton of trash every year.
- In NYC we collect enough garbage to fill the Empire State building weekly.

SEPERATE reusable and recyclable items at the time of disposal, by cleaning out the containers, bottles, etc. at the time of use, dry them and put in their own place. Recycling can be very simple, if organized. Be alert to laws requiring separation of reusable and recyclable materials from solid waste.

There is an unbelievable amount of waste on completely unnecessary things. Locate either a recycling center in your neighborhood or check into curbside recycling. Newspapers, glass and cans can be recycling easily - just clean them. But it doesn't stop there. Find out what items your neighborhood recycles - there are probably more than you realize. You can help preserve resources, prevent excess garbage that will be dumped into landfills or left floating in the streets. And consider Precycling. When you are shopping, look at over packaging. By purchasing items in bulk or getting fruits and veggies loose rather than prepackaged in plastic you instantly reduce what you will throw away. There is a lot that can be done, with out a lot of effort if you just stop and think about what you are doing and the impact that your actions will have. Every little bit helps, so think it through.

PRECYCLING: Considering the products and packaging you're using, eliminate any extra waste before hand and also use recyclable products. Here are some simple things to do:

- not take bags when making a small purchase
- use reusable cloth or string bag when shopping, not plastic or paper
- use sponges instead of paper towels, and cloth napkins instead of paper
- look for containers that can be reused or at least recycled (glass and aluminum). Reusable containers

- Take advantage of libraries

Miscellaneous Tips

- Avoid aerosol - there is no practical reuse or recycling potential. Instead look for pump sprays and burn candles or incense instead of using aerosol airfreshner.
- If you have to bring home a shopping bag, use them as garbage bags, or donate to a business that will reuse them (like the Salvation army or any thrift store). Don't just throw them away. Get into the practice/habit of carrying your own bag (preferable a cloth or mesh one) with you when you plan to shop. Some supermarkets now offer a 3¢ refund when you bring your own bags. It's yet another incentive to bring your own.
- Rather than use refreezable "ice" containers, freeze a plastic bottle w/ water and use the same way.
- Purchase products compatible with your neighborhood recycling program. Plan ahead and consider what you will be buying and where things will ultimately end up.
- Give away things you no longer need or want, or donate to a charitable organization or thrift store. Don't throw away good items that are still usable.
- Buy produce in season and from your local region. Support local agriculture rather than importing products from another region. Not only are you paying for shipping and transportation (unnecessary waste) but your local farmers need the support and it will promote self-sustainability.
- Nature is one large composting system. Living organisms "eat" organic material and turn it into a rich, crumbly soil called humus. Food scraps and yard waste can be recycled through composting. If you don't have a yard, contribute to a local facility. If there isn't one, let officials know that you want one. Take the initiative to start one yourself! For a basic factsheet, send a SASE to Berkeley Ecology Center/ 2530 San pablo Ave./ Berkeley CA 94702
- Write manufacturers about packaging or ingredients that are environmental hazards or use animal testing. Voice your opinions, if they get enough response things just might change!
- Stop eating meat! Not only is the meat industry cruel to animals, but it is a vast waste of resources. If you are not already a vegetarian - think about it - you really need to eat that cow or pig? Vegetarian diets put you more in tune to your bodies nutritional needs. This is a big issue and subject to which there is much reading available, and well-worth the time!!
- Styrofoam will never degrade. Find a substitute!! Don't use styrofoam peanut packaging - but if some comes your way - reuse it!
- Christmas trees - first of all, don't kill a tree to put in your house for 2-3 weeks. Celebrate with a living tree, or improvise. If you must have a cut one-living tree, some communities collect trees and run them through a chipper creating mulch. Clean your tree of all non-organic items

• If you live in a house, consider planting short, dense evergreen shrubs around the foundation, to provide insulation from cold.

Around the Kitchen

- Reusable containers: for food storage, instead of aluminum or plastic wrap.
- Use unbleached coffee filters - bleached paper products create dioxin, a deadly toxic which is dumped into waterways.
- Use rags (old t-shirts, fabrics, etc.) rather than paper products.
- Reuse paper towels used for drying hands, let them dry. Better yet just use a towel.
- Reuse plastic wrap and plastic bags (it can be washed). Keep in a handy place. Better yet, use containers.

ENVIRONMENTALLY SAFE CLEAN-UP

Non-Toxic Environmentally Safe Cleaning: With these few items you can do all your cleaning naturally and safely without any chemicals. Flake Soap/Bar soap (Ivory), Washing/Baking soda, Borax, Vinegar, Salt, Lemon.

All Purpose Cleaner

Use hot water, soap and borax, or use 1/2 cup "washing soda" per bucket of water. Problem: avoid ammonia, which attacks your lungs, and chlorine which forms cancer causing compounds when released into the environment.

Dishwashing liquid

Use liquid soap such as castile or rub a damp dishtowel over a bar of soap. Look for naturally derived or glycerin based soaps. Problem: most dishwashing liquids are detergents (not soap) which are derived from scarce petroleum, they are non-biodegradable and contain artificial fragrances and colors.

Laundry Products

Use soap products which boost "washing soda". It brightens all fabrics and costs less. 1/2 cup vinegar in rinse water will soften laundry and cut soap use. Using soap flakes is a non-toxic and bio-degradable substitute for detergent. Add 1/3 cup of washing soda (sodium carbonate) to help remove stains and grease. Or use Borax. Problem: most products are non-biodegradable. Even phosphate free biodegradable detergents contribute to water pollution.

Glass Cleaner

Use alcohol to remove residue commercial glass cleaner. Then a mixture of 50% white vinegar and 50% water. Problem: glass cleaner emits ammonia mist, which you breathe. Ammonia is a poison that usually has no warning label.

Disinfectants

Use 1/2 cup of Borax in 1 gallon hot water. This meets germicidal state requirements. Problem: most disinfectants are filled with toxic chemicals including phenol, formaldehyde and ammonia, some of the fumes can even escape through tightly closed containers.

Drain Cleaners

Always use a drain basket to maintain clean drains. Use 1 cup of baking soda, 1 cup of salt and 1/4 cream of tartar. Pour 1/4 of this mixture down drain and follow with boiling water. Clear clogs with 1/4 cup baking soda followed by 1/2 cup vinegar. Cover till fizzing stops, then flush with boiling water. Use this treatment regularly to prevent clogs.

Paints/Paint Thinners

Use non-toxic, vegetable based paints, stains and lacquers. Finnish woods naturally with wax. Use a heat gun sandpaper and scrapers to remove finishes from wood.

- If you use dishes: Add 1/2 cup of vinegar to keep grease from clinging to pans and dishes.
- To make rooms smell good - use vinegar, cloves and cinnamon in a glass jar, heat and place where needed. This will absorb odors rather than cover them, like commercial products.

Safe Supplies To Be Chosen Over Chemical Products

- White glue, library paste, wheat paste, water based markers, wax crayons and dustless chalk, liquid water based paints, any water based products.
- Do not mix ammonia with chlorine bleach - they will create dangerous fumes. If you must use ammonia, always have ventilation.
- Avoid commercial products. Baking powder, vinegar and lemon are the best for cleaning. They are friendlier to the skin and more environmentally safe, and not corporate!

Say "NO" to what you're not going to use

- Napkins, straws, plastic utensils, condiments, bags... If you don't intend to use them then don't take them. Especially in NYC where bodegas love to give this stuff away, tell them you don't need it, and if they don't listen, then just don't take it. Or else take your item out of the bag and leave it on the counter (they're gonna reuse it). Don't be lazy!
- When in a restaurant: if you don't plan to drink any water - then don't let the waitperson fill you a wasteful glass. Though I suggest drinking water, rather than commercial sodas. It's better for you and free!

A Few Facts...

- $1 out of every $10 we spend pays for packaging.
- Packaging makes up 1/3 of our wastes by weight, 1/2 by volume.
- Each New Yorker generates over a ton of trash every year.
- In NYC we collect enough garbage to fill the Empire State building weekly.

Ask Yourself...

What is the product made of?
How is it packaged?
Can the packaging be reused or recycled?
Do I really need it?

BOOK REVIEWS

IMMEDIATISM by Hakim Bey

Something that "mediates" comes between. In the context of this book, it is something that comes between you and an experience. For example, when you watch a video of a Misfits show from '82, you aren't at the show. Your experience of it is mediated by the tv and vcr. That's obvious. What's less obvious is that, even had you been at the show, your experience of it would still have been mediated, by such things as the bouncers, the club, the stage, etc. These mediations put limits on possible ways in which the event can happen, and shape the way you will experience it. So, because the show is in a club, with a stage and bouncers, you are not going to be kicking Glen Danzig while he sings; nor will Glen Danzig be kicking you while you dance. What Hakim Bey argues in this book is that, while all experiences are mediated in some way (i.e., even looking at a sunset, or listening to falling rain are mediated by your senses, so you will not see infra-red hues, or hear sounds your dog might really enjoy), the less an experience is mediated, the more spiritually and emotionally fulfilling it is going to be. So, while seeing the Misfits in a totally D.I.Y. bouncerless club would be really cool, you'd get much more out of playing in your own band. Bey argues that the act of engaging in relatively un-mediated experiences is revolutionary, because it contributes nothing to the entertainment or culture industry, and, more importantly, undermines the capitalist ideology by rejecting the ideas that a) culture (music, art, etc) is best left to professionals who do it much better than you ever could and b) you need to spend money to have a good time. And while Bey isn't writing about punk (actually, he keeps using a "quilting bee," where a bunch of friends get together to make quilts... a cool idea by the way), the connection to D.I.Y. punk should be obvious, as should the reasons why this book is definitely worth reading. And if you've never read Temporary Autonomous Zone, Hakim Bey's best known book, you should really pick that up too. (AK Press, P.O. Box 40682, San Francisco, CA 94140-0682).

SOCIAL ANARCHISM OR LIFESTYLE ANARCHISM by Murray Bookchin
Murray Bookchin is a bit of a grump. Unfortunately, he's a grump who makes some very good arguments. If you don't mind wading hip-deep in the muddy waters of academic ism-speak to fish them out. This book can be read as a reaction to Hakim Bey's work, and can be summed up in the question: What good is your temporary autonomous zone when children are being massacred in Bosnia? Its all well and good for you and your friends to turn your back on "the system" to try and create your little utopian playground, but what about the people who don't have the comfort to make such a "radical" choice? And don't you have a responsibility to them, to work for their liberation as well as your own? I think Bookchin overstates his case in implying that you can't have elements of both social and lifestyle anarchism, and that both are not worthwhile, but that's to be expected. As I said, he's a grump. Its unfortunate that his obtuse writing style will probably alienate potential readers, but that sort of fits in with his larger (and hopefully erroneous) belief that anarchism isn't supposed to be fun, its supposed to be hard work. (AK Press)

TELEVISIONARIES by Tom Vague

This is a little weird, but thoroughly engrossing. Its basically a diary of the R.A.F., the notorious German terrorist group. Each entry is seldom more than a paragraph or two, so you don't get a lot of depth, but after the first few pages, I was hooked. I'm having a hard time putting my finger on why exactly this worked so well for me, but it did. Oh, and you might want to pick up Love and Terror, which is a novel based at least in part on the R.A.F. It's really good, dealing with some of the dangers of ideological extremism, with lots of sex and violence (tee hee). I found it in a used book store in Portland, and I don't have it in front of me to give you the author and publisher, but if you get in touch with me, I'll let you know. (AK Press)

HOW TO ROCKNROLL: the Biker Pride Manual by Sam Kilian Tracy
This is awesome. The editor of Biker Pride, one of my favorite zines, took it on himself to write a bike repair manual. It's well written, clear and easy to understand, and, although I haven't needed to consult it for repair work (yet!), the procedures and tips described look really good. This should be on your shelf, right next to your copy of Soy Not Oil. ($3 plus 3 stamps to P.O. Box 2275, Minneapolis, MN 55402).

UNFINISHED BUSINESS... the politics of Class War

Class War is a British working class revolutionary party. This book is a statement of ideas that the party has come to agree to. Included is history and analysis of the current state of the State, and plans and projections for the coming revolution. It's well written, manages to avoid most of the -isms and -ology terms that make many political books so difficult to actually read, and is really nicely laid-out and put together. Very highly recommended. (AK Press)

CLASS WAR: The Attack on Working People and

PROSPECT FOR DEMOCRACY on CD by Noam Chomsky

Absolutely highly recommended! If your brain is of the type that can process social and political commentary and ideas, this is for you... and even if not, he lays out an all out frank logical sledgehammer of thoughts and info on corporations, media, and modern events and economics that is very direct and easy to grasp. I'm always amazed at this guy because he understand the extreme complexities of the systems workings, yet is against it. And in a world where the people who learn the rules of the game usually quickly use their knowledge to the advantage and play to win at everyones expense, here's a person who could play along but doesn't, and in fact would rather destroy the whole game and the rules. Heartening and encouraging for anyone who treasures real democratic ideal and despises corporate control and fascism — lots of bleak news of course, but he's realistic and very down to earth. The titles speak for themselves, and both give an historical and current perspective. 55 and 72 minutes of mind bomb. Literally awesome. At $13-$15, you may get more info by buying some of his books, but its definitely powerful and interesting to hear him speak. SOME THOUGHTS

November with Avail — that just could be the ultimate in favorite bands tour that gets me out and following them!

I'm having a weird thing happening when I sit and write these "columns" — I've become very aware of what I'm writing and of the fact that I'm writing it for hundreds, if not thousands of people to read it. I feel that I've lost the ability to just let the words pour out and now I'm very conscience of what I'm writing, and how I'm writing it, of who will read it and what will or will not think. Of who's toes I'm stepping on and rubbing and basically of what worth any of my bullshit is to anyone's eyes. It's a weird feeling, and I don't like it. When I printed up the last issue, 120 pages with 8,000 copies, the biggest ever. When I picked them up from the printer the whole van was full of newsprint and I got freaked out. The words I've got here in my head didn't seem worth all of the paper and what and how I was writing it all suddenly seems very contrived and aware. I've always done this zine and my writing with a stream-of-conscience flow, now suddenly it feels all bottled up. Suddenly I feel the weight of expectation upon me and I'm not sure what to do!

After planning on being in NYC for just a couple weeks, I've ended up being here for a couple months. I started helping out with Tribal War while Neil was on tour and then sorta committed myself to stay to finish this issue of S&L and keep Tribal War in order while Neil went to Europe with Aus Rotten. Like I said, I was initially really gung-ho on being out and about in the city and soaking up all of the energy that I had missed while away. But as predicted I reached a stage of burn-out and once again sort of holed-up in the house not wanting to leave. Fortunately there's enough people in and out of this house as well as some good friends around who kept me from really sinking into a deep depression. I set myself up for a deadline of finishing this issue by June 1st, getting it mailed out and then going back to Pittsburgh with Aus Rotten after they returned from their tour in Europe. For the past week, I got really stressed out and panicked realizing that I had lost track of time (mainly from having run away to Richmond two weeks in a row) and suddenly that deadline was upon my head. I started to get sick over it, and then realized that it was my own self imposed deadline. Even though I really wanted to follow through and get out to Pittsburgh, I also realized that I didn't have to stress myself out and especially since we still don't have a house to move into — there is really no hurry. When the time is right I'm sure I'll have another opportunity to get out of here. Suddenly it's June and summer is really here and I'm excited that the whole summer is still in front of me and I wonder just where it will take me. (Though I can certainly do without the dreadful heat that comes with it!!)
